Rhine Evacuation Expected to Start Early Next Month

Foreign Troops May All Leave by Christmas as Result of Satisfactory Talks Between Germans and Occupying Powers.

The Hague, Aug. 13.—Complete evacuation of the Rhineland before Christmas was today practically decided upon at a meeting of the principal delegates of Germany, Great Britain, France and Belgium, to the Hague reparations conference.

Immediate evacuation of the Rhineland was seen today as the result of a most satisfactory talk between the Germans and the occupying powers.

Progress toward a complete accord was sufficient to render unnecessary a meeting of the political committee which had been fixed for tomorrow. Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann of Germany announced on leaving the meeting "we are much nearer to a final settlement."

The British delegation stated that the date for complete evacuation would be given out after Premier Briand of France had had an opportunity to consult his military advisers.

Since only the date for completion of the evacuation is in question, it is assumed that the date for beginning evacuation has already been decided.

The evacuation is expected to begin not later than September 1.

The delegates, leaving the conference hall at The Hague, held their meeting in private in the nearby town of Soheveningen.

VICTORIA FAIR APPEALS TO ALL

Variety of Exhibits Draws Interest of Every Section of Community

The wide range of exhibits provided for in the many divisions of the Victoria Fair opening at the Willows next Monday makes it a citizens' fair in every sense of the word. Probably few fairs in the west have such a general appeal to every section of the community.

The following are the main divisions which are again divided into many classes making thousands of different classes in all: Agricultural products, dairy products, art department, boys' and girls' livestock clubs, cattle section, dairy produce, district exhibits, floral department, garden produce, goat section, horse section, horticultural department, automobile show, Indian department, natural history department, poultry and pet stock section, rabbit section, school exhibits, sheep section, skilled mechanical work, stock judging competition, swine section and women's department.

It will be seen from this list that of the scores of thousands who pass through the fair gates during the week there is a special appeal to everybody. Then apart from the exhibits there is the midway with its varied attractions to provide the fair atmosphere, and last, but by no means least the Winter Garden Revue, which has been booked this year. This great traveling show, which has been secured at considerable expense, will, it is anticipated, prove a great magnet.

WASHINGTON FIRE FIGHTER KILLED

Blaze Reported to Be Started By Backfire From Aeroplane Flying Low

Bellingham, Wash., Aug. 13.—One man was killed and another seriously injured early today fighting a fire that has been burning about a week in slashings south of Lake Samish, near here. Details of the accident were not available here at an early hour.

The body was taken to Sedro Woolley and the injured man was rushed to a hospital at Mount Vernon.

The dead man later was reported to be C. S. Hutton, thirty-five, of Sedro Woolley, a watchman. Frank Arnold, also of Sedro Woolley, received injuries to his right leg. A burning snag which was guarding was said to have fallen on them.

The fire was reported to have been started by backfire from an aeroplane flying low over the slashed area.

BRITAIN SEEKS WORLD PEACE, SAYS CHURCHILL

Has Set Example in Disarmament, Former Chancellor of Exchequer Claims

Fourteen Hundred Persons Hear British Statesman at Montreal Canadian Club

Montreal, Aug. 13.—Nearly 1,400 people gathered at the Canadian Club luncheon here today to listen to the first address of his present tour in Canada delivered by Right Hon. Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Mr. Churchill said he had come to study Canadian conditions, particularly the economic situation and the imperial trade.

There was no other organization more interested in the preservation of world peace than the British Empire. The Empire had all it wanted in land and all the necessities of living. All that now was desired was the opportunity to develop under peace and equality.

From peace one's mind naturally turned to disarmament, and in that the British Empire had set a good example. The army was less than before the war. The air force was not as great as that of Britain's nearest neighbor. And even in naval defence the navy was smaller. Britain and the United States had agreed on equality.

Occasionally enough the quarrels of disarmament had been retarded by its greatest advocates. Every nation had its own problems of safety to face and little was gained when nations who have not had the same experiences try to solve those problems for others.

SAYS SNOWDEN IS JUSTIFIED

In Demanding Larger Share of Reparations Than Young Plan Calls For

U.S. University Economist Defends Stand Before Institute of Politics

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 13.—Further defence of Chancellor of the Exchequer Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden's demand for a larger British share of German reparations than that allotted in the Young plan was made by Professor Herbert Heaton, economist of the University of Minnesota and a native of England, before members of the Institute of Politics today.

Snowden was justified in his objections to the despatch of the Spa reparations and the distribution of unconditional German payments, Professor Heaton declared. In his demand for the abolition of payment in kind, however, Dr. Heaton believed the British spokesman was wrong. The Hague conference was "on less firm ground."

TO RECOGNIZE ENGLAND
"Snowden's demand for the restoration of the Spa percentage involved an additional payment to Great Britain of about $12,000,000 a year," he said. "In making this demand Snowden merely wished to get the money which would recoup England for the sums which she had already paid the United States, the sums still owing were provided for in the Young report."

German Line May Build Two New Zeppelins

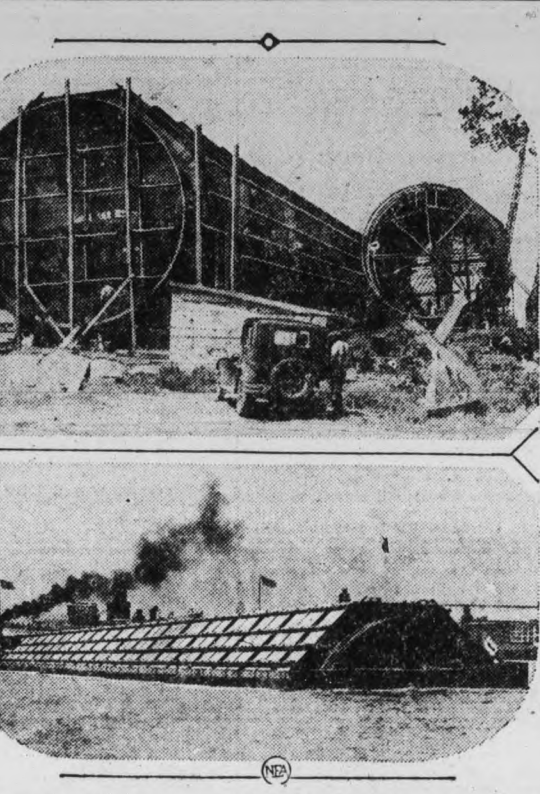

Hamburg, Germany, Aug. 13.—Dr. Liester Kelp, director of the Hamburg-American Line who was a round-trip passenger on the recent flight to the United States of the Graf Zeppelin, has stated that the steamship company would probably participate in financing the next new Zeppelins.

These, he said, would be equipped with more powerful motors that would enable an average speed of nearly ninety-five miles an hour and be capable of providing regular transatlantic service regardless of weather. He predicted that within a few years the fare between Germany and the United States would be reduced from $2,000 to $1,000.

Moscow, Aug. 13.—The News Agency tonight reported that the Russian military plane, "Land of the Soviets," attempting a flight from Moscow to New York, was forced down in an uninhabited region 170 miles from Irkutsk, Siberia. The plane left

To Connect Detroit and Windsor

Some day soon all ten sections of the Detroit-Windsor tunnel will be completed and submerged—and a new under-water passage for vehicles and pedestrians will be available between the United States and Canada. Above are two sections under construction on land. Each is 250 feet long and thirty-five feet in diameter. When completed, and butressed at each end to make them water-tight for floating, they are launched like ships and then submerged. Below is the fourth section being towed to position for submersion.

Forest Fire Toll Of Coast Timber Reaches Millions

Thousands of Acres Swept as Army of Firefighters Strive Unsuccessfully to Cope With Flames Fanned By High Winds in British Columbia, Oregon, Idaho and Washington.

Spokane, Aug. 13.—Perfect forest fire conditions caused by high winds and low humidity today had urged old and slumbering fires into roaring activity, and had started hundreds of new blazes throughout the northwest. In Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, and over the Canadian border.

Major conflagrations were eating rapidly through thousands of acres of merchantable timber, causing losses which may run into millions of dollars, and forest officials were unable to predict when the thousands of men fighting the blazes could get them under control.

DOCKHOBORS HELP
Eight hundred men, including 300 Dockhobors, rushed from Grand Forks, B.C., were working desperately to quell the Dollar Mountain blazes in North Central Washington. This conflagration, a crown fire roaring through an immensely valuable stand of yellow pine timber, had leveled nearly 12,000 acres. Aided by a stiff wind Sunday the fire raged 6,000 acres in two hours and forced two contingents of fighters to abandon their camps and flee for safety.

Other fires in that region, some of which were reported to be under control, flamed with renewed vigor today. The obstinate Chelan forest fire today had covered a thousand acres more, bringing the total to 11,500.

BEYOND CONTROL
In Idaho, Oregon, Montana and Canada forestry officials reported major fires beyond control with little relief in prospect from the weather. The Bald Mountain and Old Man Creek fires in the Selkirk forest of Idaho still held fighters at bay after two weeks of fighting. They had covered 3,500 acres. The fire in the Salmon River Country of the same state still was out of control after having burned over an

LIBERAL LEADING IN SASKATCHEWAN

Prince Albert, Aug. 13.—The lead of H. A. Hall, Liberal, over his opponent, John Bida, Independent Conservative, in the Cumberland deferred election was increased when Lac la Ronge poll reported today. The vote at Lac la Ronge was: Hall 28, Bida 11.

With four polls out of fifteen now in, the standing is: Hall 117, Bida 18.

MILLION-DOLLAR PUBLICITY IS EXPERTS' VIEW

W. S. Thompson of Canadian National Railways Likes Brisbane's Work on Victoria

Florida Man Wants Information on City and More Californians Interested

Walter S. Thompson, publicity chief of the Canadian National Railways, who reached the city this afternoon from the east in company with Harry W. Anderson, editor of The Toronto Globe, Miss Anderson and Bernard Holmes, told Publicity Commissioner George J. Warren that Arthur Brisbane's column on Victoria August 5 was a million dollars worth of publicity for Vancouver Island.

The Brisbane column, he said, is the most widely read newspaper feature in the publishing world.

BROOKLYN INTERESTED
James R. Dawson, 471 Senator Street, Brooklyn, N.Y., interested by Brisbane, writes the publicity commissioner here as follows:

"I visited your city several times when I was a young man, liked it very much and often spoke of it. 'To-day I read an article in The New York American by Arthur Brisbane describing your fair city, which awakened old memories and made me long to see Victoria once more.'"

FLORIDA HEARS
J. N. Dunham, manager of the East Coast Lumber and Supply Company of Cocoa, Fla., writes:

"I have been reading about Victoria by Arthur Brisbane and it has gotten me very much interested in your section. Please mail me information relative to fruit and vegetable growing, the lumber industry and the domestic rabbit business."

Mrs. Helen Adkinson, 3950 West Verona Street, Belvedere, Los Angeles, Cal., writes:

"Arthur Brisbane glowingly described your city in a recent article in The Los Angeles Examiner. My husband and I are desirous, because of family reasons and not lack of opportunity, of making a change. It is our earnest desire to put our efforts in building a permanent home in a live and growing community."

DETECTIVE FACES MURDER CHARGE

David Kirkwood Before Vancouver Magistrate at Preliminary Hearing

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Preliminary hearing of the murder charge against Alexander Kirkwood, private detective, who was alleged to have killed David Spence on the night of August 5, continued before Magistrate Shaw today.

John Feeley, motorman of a B.C.E.R. car, told of hearing a shot while at the corner of Richards and Hastings Streets.

He saw a tall man, whom he later recognized as Kirkwood, walk in the direction of an automobile which was parked near Pender Street, another man and shorter man standing in a crouching position near the lane with a coat over his head. The taller man turned and the shorter man raised himself up and shook the coat from his head, then walked towards the lane and collapsed as the tall man returned.

He saw a man stagger a few feet and fall in the lane, another man then stooping over him. Others ran to the scene and Kirkwood said: "I did it. Phone for a doctor."

BULLET THROUGH RIBS
Evidence of Dr. A. M. Hunter, who made the autopsy on the body of Spence, showed that a .45-calibre bullet passed through the ribs and perforated the lungs and heart. Death, he said, would occur in a very short time owing to loss of blood.

Witness was unable to give evidence as to the distance the gun had been held from the body at the time of the shooting.

Further evidence will be taken on Wednesday, August 21.

RECORD GATES AT VANCOUVER FAIR

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—More than 21,000 people attend the Canada Pacific Exhibition Monday. This is 2,000 more than attended on the same day last year and continues the march to a new record total for the exhibition as a whole. Attendance during the first three days was far in advance of last year, Saturday being especially notable.

Sir Edward Kemp Funeral Wednesday

Toronto, Aug. 13.—Funeral services for the late Sir Edward Kemp, prominent Canadian statesman and business man, who died at his summer home near Babaygon yesterday, will be held from his residence here on Wednesday, August 14. Interment will take place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The body of Sir Edward was brought to Toronto tonight and funeral arrangements made. Lady Kemp accompanied the body to Toronto.

On the first nine Lewis had a 38, which was just five over par, while coming home he had a 41. His card follows:

J. E. "Joe" Wilson, of Victoria, defeated Lewis in the final round of the tournament. (Concluded on Page 13)

Judgment Involves $20,000,000 In Back Radio Royalties

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 13.—A judgment said to involve approximately 90 per cent of the country's radio manufacturers and an estimated $20,000,000 in back royalties, has been handed down here by Federal Judge M. Morris in the Radio Corporation of America.

The judgment, which was announced yesterday, affects three beneficiaries, Francis W. Dunmore, employed in the bureau of standards, Washington, D.C.; F. D. Powell, former bureau employee, and the Dubilier Condenser Corporation of New York, all appearing as plaintiffs.

The decision is the result of a suit brought in 1927 against the Radio Corporation of America alleging infringement on patents owned by plaintiffs for the manufacture of instruments for radios, which eliminated the necessity of storage batteries and made it possible to operate from standard residence lighting systems.

TOM MIX STARRING IN WESTERN DRAMA
AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Even some of those close to Tom Mix, the noted star of William Fox western photoplays, fail to appreciate how completely he lives up to his reputation as "the man who never fakes." Not alone does Mix apply this inflexible rule to his daredevil stunts, but he extends it at times in an extraordinary way. For example in making "Rough Riding Romance," the picture at the Playhouse Theatre, he was called upon to appear, at one point, quite out of breath. Instead of simulating breathlessness, Mix insisted on running swiftly for some time, then appeared before the camera actually out of breath.

NEWLY DISCOVERED GIRL ACTRESS HAS
LEAD AT DOMINION

Mona Rico, a nineteen year old unknown Mexican girl, who plays a big role in John Barrymore's latest "sound" picture, "Eternal Love," now at the Dominion Theatre, won a five-year contract because of her artistic hands. Miss Rico was discovered by Ernst Lubitsch, director, during the making of tests. A girl's hands were needed in a test scene and Mona, who happened to be waiting in the casting office, was sent to the set. She displayed such natural acting ability, Lubitsch said, that he made a test of her alone and found the ideal character he wanted for the part of a wild mountain girl in the United Artists picture starring Barrymore.

She plays the second feminine lead opposite Barrymore, sharing supporting honors with Camilla Horn, Victor Varconi and others.

Born in Mexico City, she went to Los Angeles with her mother. The official records show that she and her mother walked across the international border to enter the United States. When she started making the rounds of the studios, looking for work, she says her friends tried to discourage her by pointing out that thousands of experienced extras were struggling to make a living in the films.

Pressed by a three-hour agenda, which held it from eight o'clock until the tower clock was booming eleven last night, the City Council referred air port matters without comment to its industrial committee for report. Nothing new developed during the meeting beyond the statement that Ottawa had approved of the site and that the necessary accommodation to be made for visiting aircraft would have to be agreed upon between the city and the civil air authorities.

AT THE COLISEUM

With more than half of the scenes done in natural coloring, the feature picture at the Coliseum Theatre on the new Canadian Kinephone this week is "Redskin." Starring that popular actor, Richard Dix. Although no voices are heard this week, it is a sound picture, and a number of Indian dirges, chants and choruses are heard, as well as the theme song of the picture, "Redskin." It is a particularly tuneful number.

The settings of the story are laid in the mountains of Arizona, and the wonderful colorings are splendidly reproduced. The unusual blue of the sky, the light red of the cliffs and the mysterious dark coloring of the pools are seen, as well as the blaze of color when the Indians assemble in their many-colored blankets and gorgeous dresses. The story concerns two Indians, one a Navajo and the other a Pueblo, whose love for each other remains staunch even though their tribes are constantly at war. Richard Dix has the role of Wing Foot of the Navajo tribe, while a newcomer to the screen portrays dainty Corn Blossom of the Pueblos. Supporting the principals is a large cast of extras who are employed for the scenes where the Indians assemble for council or prayer.

TWO LEADING LADIES IN BARTHELMLESS FILM
SHOWING AT CAPITOL

Two leading ladies support Richard Barthelmess in his latest First National-Vitaphone 100 per cent talking picture, "Drag," which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre for a three-day showing.

One, Lila Lee, is a brunette; the other, Alice Day, is a blonde.

The blonde has the best of it at the start, for she marries the hero; but they do not live happily ever after. Too many "in-laws" is the cause. The bride puts her family first in all things, which leads to a great big opportunity of which the brunette takes advantage and she comes in first at the finish.

Both are nice, well-meaning girls, and if it hadn't been for the blonde's family complex everything would probably have been smooth and happy in the domestic life of David Carroll—as Dick Barthelmess is called in "Drag."

The picture includes a very elaborate musical show staged on the most lavish Broadway scale. It is called "The Love Prince," and the haunting and seductive central melody is "My Song of the Nile."

LAWS BLOCK FIRE TRUCKS CITY TOLD

Unlimited Speed and Clear Right of Way Demanded For Responding Engines

Liability and Property Insurance Instituted For City Trucks

Should fire trucks be given unrestricted right of way, with authority for their drivers to drive at any speed they see fit? That was the question laid before the City Council last night in a recommendation from the City fire wardens. The wardens recommended that the point be taken up by the City's delegates to the Union of B.C. Municipalities, at its next convention.

There existed at the present time some conflict between Provincial and municipal legislation, which operated against the protection of fire crews on their way to the scene of a blaze, the council was told. A local case in point was a $20,000 damage claim brought against the city some years ago, following a crash in the narrow part of Fort Street, known as "The Dardanelles." Fire engines should have an exclusive right of way, and their speed in reaching an actual blaze should be unhindered, said the wardens.

The council proved itself open to conviction on the point, and referred the question to its legal adviser, with the intention of taking up the point at the Union convention, to be held at Harrison Hot Springs shortly.

By way of abridging some of the difficulty, the council ratified the institution of public liability and property damage insurance for fire trucks, at a cost to be $650 for the remainder of the current term.

The public insurance will be provided on a $20,000 to $40,000 basis, and the property damage by a $2,000 limit. The initial policies will be written by companies represented here by C. S. Marchant and J. A. Walker, the council decided.

William Wiggs and John A. Easton were placed on probation as firefighters, after a recommendation to that effect by Fire Chief Vernon W. Stewart and the wardens.

Anti-vivisection Society Official Will Speak Here

Mrs. F. Tracy, secretary of the New England Anti-vivisection Society will visit Victoria in the course of an extended tour through the United States and Canada. The object of her tour is to bring together the various organizations, to exchange ideas and to carry back to the east a report on the work of the various societies she has visited.

Included in her talk here will be a summary of the work accomplished by the international conference on vivisection, with headquarters in New York.

Members and friends are invited to hear Mrs. Tracy at a gathering in the Alexandra Club, Campbell Building, on Saturday, August 17, at 8 p.m. Miss Bonshor will contribute to the musical programme and refreshments will be served.

WILLOWS RACE TANGLE CLEARED

The Willows race concession dispute passed into history last night when the City Council voted to accept the declaration of the concessionaires that automatic betting machines would be used and officially received a cheque for $2,100 and $10,000 bond on account of this year's meet. Others who tendered on the concession in response to the now rescinded call from the city for fresh bids have their entries returned. The action was taken without further discussion of the situation and will be cemented by legal forms and formulas prescribed for the council by its legal advisers, it was stated.

WAGE INQUIRY MAKES REPORT

Commission on Government Technical Men Presents First Finding

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—The commission, consisting of E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Sir George G. Raneau, Montreal, and Dr. Walter Murray, Toronto, appointed to inquire into the salaries of technical and professional officers of the Government, has made a first interim report. It relates wholly to the staff of National Research Laboratories. The commission says it is "impressed with the necessity of retaining in Canada men who are qualified for this highly technical and important work and unhesitatingly approves the recommendations of the research council."

The council had drawn up a range of salaries from $2,100 to $5,000 a year, according to the classification of the work, and the commission finds this even lower than the range in the United States. The Government has sanctioned the findings which are made.

Samoa Coolies Attack Police

Apla, British Samoa, Aug. 13.—Four coolies were wounded, one seriously and ten others injured by police batons in a clash Saturday between the officers and 250 striking coolies.

The police, attempting to disperse the mob, fired two shots in the air, but were forced to fire in self-defence as the mob bore down upon them. Several Samoan and European police were slightly injured by thrown stones.

ISAAC CAMPBELL, CANADA'S NEED PIONEER, DEAD IN AGRICULTURE

Distinguished Member of Western Canada Bar Passes in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Aug. 13.—Isaac Campbell, K.C., seventy-six, pioneer resident of Winnipeg, and distinguished member of the western Canada bar, died at his residence here early yesterday morning.

Mr. Campbell had been a resident of Manitoba since 1882, coming here from Ontario. He was a former president of the Manitoba Law Society and the Manitoba Bar Association and also vice-president of the Canadian Bar Association.

Coming here during the boom days, Mr. Campbell immediately went to the practice of law. He also identified himself with local Liberal associations, and from 1888 to 1891 was a member of the South Winnipeg in the Provincial Legislature. In 1891 he was an unsuccessful candidate for the Federal Parliament, being defeated by the late Sir Hugh John Macdonald.

After an introduction of Mr. Motherwell by Premier S. P. Tominie in the presence of Lieut.-Governor R. Randolph Bruce, Mayor W. H. Malkin, and other public officials, the Minister of Agriculture spoke on the value of exhibitions to agriculture.

"Larger production of high quality agricultural goods is what is necessary to Canada if the country is to continue as an exporter of agricultural produce," declared Mr. Motherwell. He pointed out that to-day Canada consumes most of her live stock produce and unless production is speeded up the country will discontinue to be an exporter of live stock.

TANK EXPLOSION CAUSES DEATH

One Killed and Five May Die at San Diego

San Diego, Cal. Aug. 13.—One man was reported killed and five others were believed to be fatally injured in a terrific explosion about 8 a.m. to-day of a refinery tank of the Shell-Oil Company at its Dominguez Junction plant.

The name of the dead man was given as E. M. Ferguson. The injured men were rushed to a Long Beach hospital for treatment.

The blast shook the surrounding countryside and fire raged immediately, throwing the entire section into danger. Several large refinery tanks adjoined the ruined structure and the possibility of a disastrous fire was imminent.

Meigs reports said the men were working near the tank when it exploded. The cause could not be learned.

PERU ENTERS WORLD LEAGUE

Cheque For Back Dues Sent and Full Participation Decided Upon

Lima, Peru, Aug. 13.—Peru to-day decided to resume full participation in the League of Nations.

Peru withdrew from official participation in the league affairs in 1921 in protest against the election of Augustin Edwards of Chile to the League council, on which Peru was not represented. At that time settlement of the Tacna-Arica territorial dispute with Chile seemed far distant. Last January Peru sent a cheque for about $80,000 to the Secretariat in payment of its dues for 1928 and of ten per cent of its back dues since 1920.

BIG JAMBOREE CLOSING TO-DAY

Fifty Thousand Scouts Break Camp at Arrow Park, England

Arrow Park, Eng., Aug. 13.—Tens of thousands of boys trekked out of Arrow Park to-day as camp was broken and the great world jamboree of Boy Scouts came to an end. Fifty thousand scouts left for their homes in nearly fifty different countries.

The night was passed largely in leave taking as big contingents of boys toured the camp and bade their comrades farewell.

At dawn they began passing through the park on their homeward journey.

They took with them the farewell message from the chief scout issued before he left the camp, the keynote of which was:

"From now on the Scout symbol of peace is a golden arrow."

"From the northlands, southlands, eastlands and westlands you came at the call of my horn to this great gathering. To-day I send you back to your homelands across the seas as my ambassadors of peace among the nations of the world."

THEIR COUNTRY FIRST

IF THERE ARE ANY PEOPLE IN GREAT Britain these days who are fearful of the consequences of government by the Labor Party, perhaps the Paris Soir has given them some comfort. This well-known French daily is, in discussing the reparations deadlock, that "Snowden and MacDonald give to the world an example that other British statesmen belonging to other parties have given before them. They are first of all British, and place above everything else, in great international debates, the interest of Britain, according to the spirit of old British traditional policy. The Labor Party above all is practical. It is in power and wants to remain there."

It is not too much to say that only on very rare occasions has such unanimous approval been accorded a British Cabinet Minister in his attitude toward an important international issue as that which is being given to Mr. Snowden. Press and public are solidly behind him, the absence of even the mildest form of criticism forming an interesting subject of discussion in political and journalistic circles. France and Italy are annoyed. Plain words have been spoken. The French press has thoroughly excited itself and editorial comment has been couched in language much more forcible than polite. It reminds us of the pre-Entente Cordiale days, when in word and picture insults were hurled at the late Queen Victoria and feeling between the two countries was at fever heat.

The attitude which Mr. Snowden is maintaining at The Hague, of course, is not surprising. He appreciates the colossal burden of taxation which the British taxpayer is carrying. And if he is permitted to have his way, he will maintain that his country does not propose to make any more concessions as far as the apportionment of reparations is concerned. Nor is it a simple matter to reconcile the position which France and Italy are taking. Great Britain loaned between them approximately $5,900,000,000, or nearly $1,000,000,000 more than Great Britain's original borrowings from the United States. All she has been paid back so far is a comparatively few pounds from France and nothing from Italy. Yet these two countries are sending up a howl to high heaven because John Bull does not propose to be stung any more if he can help it.

This whole discussion about reparations, incidentally, once again brings into relief the fact that the Great War never will be paid for. The prophetic vision of Norman Angell in "The Great Illusion" is now the reality of events. He saw, before the conflict began in 1914, armies winning a war in the field and the countries which sent them losing it economically. That is precisely what has happened. Everybody knows, of course, that in the last few years Germany has been lent far more than she has had to pay in reparations. Most of it has been borrowed from one of her former adversaries.

THE VALUE OF PUBLICITY

WHAT NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY CAN do for a city which adopts that form of advertisement has been amply demonstrated since Arthur Brisbane spoke to his twenty million readers in his "To-day" column of several hundred newspapers of this continent. Victoria was his theme, and Publicity Commissioner Warren now is beginning to realize, by the size of his daily mail, what the advertisement Mr. Brisbane gave us has done for Victoria. The article has set people all over the continent thinking about this city.

Not all communities, however, are as fortunate as Victoria was in getting a visit from one in such a position to do us so much good. But, like this, other communities are sold to the advertising idea. They realize that the city which believes in telling other people about its attractions, its opportunities for profitable investment, is the city which is helping itself. We do not spend a great deal on advertising, not as much as we might profitably be doing, but what money is available is spent judiciously, and it brings excellent returns.

It is interesting to note, moreover, that supposedly conservative and unoriginal Britain is pursuing all sorts of novel methods to popularize her many resorts. The Welsh watering place of Barmouth seems to have gone one better than most. It has enlisted the services of women canvassers to visit every household for donations for newspaper advertising, the donations to cover a period of three years. For every five dollars collected by the campaigners, the Great Western Railway also will contribute five dollars. The Rev. Gwynor Davies, director of the Cambrian Resorts Association, says that this method of raising funds proved the town's faith in press advertising.

Victoria will wish Barmouth ample success in its novel policy.

THE DOCTRINE OF HENRY GEORGE

ALTHOUGH HENRY GEORGE HAS been dead for more than thirty years, his followers remain as numerous and enthusiastic as ever. From twenty-three nations and several continents they gathered in their hundreds at Edinburgh recently to testify to their undiminished faith in the taxation of land values and in Free Trade.

Henry George was a native of Philadelphia, first a printer, then an editor, but finally devoted all his life to economic and social questions. In 1871 he published "Our Land Policy," which, as further developed in 1879 under the title of "Progress and Poverty," speedily attracted the widest attention both in America and Europe.

The doctrine of Henry George may be condensed as follows: The land of every country belongs of right to all the people of that country. This right cannot be alienated by one generation, so as to affect the title of the next, any more than men can sell their yet unborn children for slaves. Private ownership of land has no more foundation in morality and reason than private ownership of air and sunlight. But, private occupancy and use of land are right and indispensable. On George and his doctrine The Manchester Guardian comments in part as follows:

While subtler economists and more elegant stylists have been forgotten, Henry George's influence, powerful immediately, seems rather to spread than to decline. Nor is that difficult to explain. For though Henry George was a man of one idea, it was a good idea, and it was founded on a truth he had observed for himself and which everyone else could observe when it was pointed out. Of course, there was no novelty in declaring that the land, naturally belonged to the people, and that part, at least, of the rent which it afforded should be paid into the common exchequer. Nor was Henry George alone in arguing that all other taxes should be gradually abolished in favor of a single land tax. But his thesis was put forward at a time when the truth contained in his doctrine was singularly evident, and the process by which men grow rich at the public expense through their good fortune in owning conveniently situated land has become increasingly apparent as industrial development has spread. His doctrine was accepted by many Liberals, and became part of Socialist thought, and much of his argument has become incorporated in the textbooks of orthodoxy.

Well may it be said that Henry George was "a man who found a truth," and if he and his followers have tended too much to put forward his remedy as a universal panacea, it must be admitted that the remedy possessed real value and was not a quack nostrum.

REFORM COMES SLOWLY

A NEW JERSEY WOMAN IS ABOUT to found a chain of colonies throughout the United States in which "the two deadly evils," hypocrisy and gossip, will never make their appearance. There will be, she says, a series of farming communities, each populated by people sworn never to pretend they are what they are not and never to carry idle tales about their neighbors. These towns will be self-sufficient; the inhabitants will raise their own food and will be economically independent, so that the false values of a coldly material civilization will not have so many chances to affect them.

How much headway this plan will make it is hard to tell. Probably everybody would like to live in a place where there are no hypocrites and no gossips; but whether people will want such a goal badly enough to move to a brand new town to get it is another question. About the only new communities founded these days are the gaily-planned real estate subdivisions.

However, the lady's ideal is right in line with good old traditions. Establishing a new town in which some new way of living could be worked out has been a feature of our civilization for generations. Dishearteningly enough, few of these communities have kept their distinctive features after the passing of the first generation. They all start out bravely, but sooner or later the influence of the outside world creeps in, the ideals of the founders grow dim and shadowy, and presently the children of the men and women who thought they were setting up a new kind of world are living, working and thinking just the way everybody else is.

And so—though it seems cruel to say it—if this New Jersey enthusiast succeeds in founding her chain of towns, one seems safe in predicting that fifty years hence they will be populated by people who are just as hypocritical and just as gossipy as the rest. All of this, of course, is inevitable. It happens, too, that it is quite right that things should work out this way.

The business of reforming the world is a long and laborious task. It cannot be done by withdrawing to some isolated spot and practicing perfection in lonely grandeur. To accomplish anything you have to knuckle down right where things are worst and plug away on your own hook—and even then your progress will not be visible to the naked eye.

Hypocrisy and gossip are deadly evils, to be sure. But you will not help to eradicate them by moving to a new town and asking for a new deal. Individuals must start first with themselves. If they persevere and are conscientious about it, their neighbors may eventually absorb a little of their attitude. And that, after all, is the only real way to go about it.

A SUGGESTION FOR AN INVENTOR

If refrigeration can be produced with heat, why not build a furnace that can be stoked with ice, which is cheap in the winter time.

MR. THOMAS'S TASK

There is, undoubtedly, an attitude in both the Old Country and in Canada which militates against the success of any schemes which have been or may be advanced. Wrong ideas prevail on both sides, which can be removed only in the way suggested by the British cabinet minister—personal investigation and the institution of a policy of compromise, by which all parties will be satisfied. Canadian labor has to be reassured that it will not suffer through British immigration, and there is no statesman in a better position to bring such reassurance than Mr. Thomas.

FAREWELL TO ERNEST

We want our thirty-five cents back. We bought the July number of Scribner's Magazine because the June number was banned in Boston. Dear old Boston was shocked because of Ernest Hemingway's serial, "Farewell to Arms." Hiding our July Scribner's under our coat and blushing guiltily, we snuck down to a deserted corner of the proofroom to read the second instalment of "Farewell to Arms." It was as shocking as Bae-deker's Guide to Italy from the Alps to Naples, or Charles Dickens's Child's History of England, but no more. Hey, Scribner's, give us back our thirty-five cents, or we'll sue the city of Boston.

A THOUGHT

But he forsook the counsel which the old men gave him, and took counsel with the young men that were brought up with him, that stood before him—II Chronicles x 8. Nature is full of freaks, and now puts an old head on young shoulders, and then a young heart beating under four-score years.—Emerson.

Loose Ends

Philately retorts, but feebly—advancing certain weird arguments—there is controversy in high places. Too, over potato salad, lemonade and squashed loganberry pie—with profound conclusions thereon—and dollar-down buying alarms the experts.

By H. B. W.

LIKE MOST things unfortunate enough to find their way into this column, views on philately recently expressed here were misconstrued by earnest philatelists. One of them has suggested that this column doesn't know anything about philately, which is quite right and that, therefore, it should not discuss that subject, which is quite wrong. You might as well say that a person should not discuss the last glacial age, the north pole or the death of Achilles because one has not seen them; and besides, I always find that on the subjects about which you are totally ignorant you can always write with a freedom and facility which is unhappily repressed when you are bound by the restraints of truth and knowledge.

ANOTHER COMPLAINT, more serious, however, is that in throwing an oblique glance at philately this column makes a serious reflection on many great men who have rejoiced in being philatelists, and who even descended far enough among the common herd to call themselves postage stamp collectors when no one was listening. This is another specious argument. No reflection was intended either on distinguished philatelists or obscure stamp collectors. You might as well say that if one attacks spinach one is insulting Mr. Ford, who is said to live on it. You might as well assert that an attack on high, stiff collars is a murderous assault on the memory of Mr. Gladstone, who was never seen without one. You might as well say that my private objections to Hereford cattle is a personal offense to Dr. Talmie, who never makes a speech without praising them. You might as well argue that my defence of the married state is a gross reflection on the Canadian Prime Minister, and the Leader of the Opposition, who are bachelors.

BUT MORE surprising still is the argument of one canny philatelist that philately is commercially profitable, that there is money to be made in collecting and selling stamps. I would be filled with sorrow indeed if I thought that was the general argument of this postage stamp fraternity. If any man has got so low as to commercialize his hobby, if any man has so extinguished his divine spark that he is prepared to sell his collections, then he should go in for collecting coin of the realm, like the rest of us and admit that he is not a philatelist at all but just the common clay of which we all are made.

AT THIS, the season dedicated to potato salad, cold jelly, tongue and squashed loganberry pie, the obnoxiousness of France, Belne, in the Household Magazine, should carry great weight. Mr. Belne has said something about picnics that has needed to be said for a long time. Said he: "Quite the most important feature of a picnic is the lunch. It is advisable to know in advance whether the lunches are to be pooled or eaten separately. If they are pooled, you can afford to contribute peanut butter sandwiches in the expectation of drawing something more worth while from the common pile. . . . When the lunch is ready the picnickers seat themselves around the cloth on which the lunch is spread, and suddenly become aware of the inconvenience of having legs. If you stretch them out they get into someone else's lap, and if you sit with your knees against your chin your reach is considerably shortened, which puts you at a great disadvantage. . . . Picnics, whatever may be said against them, have their advantages. At least they restrain in the hearts of many the truth of the old saying that there is no place like home."

THIS, OF course, has stirred up the advocates of the picnic to frothy protest. Most vigorous of these was the well-edited Christian Science Monitor, which retorted: "Now all this plain talk is enlightening. What our critic says is as true as the multiplication table, and as unanswerable as a decision of the Supreme Court. But what of it? Must everything be practical and answerable to semi-annual dividends? Consider the typical picnic of picnic weather. If it were not for rain that ruins the disposition of potato chips, sends little creepy rivers down the back, makes blotting pads of jam sandwiches, and changes meadowland into soggy porridge, there would be very little to inspire the making of wise-cracking jests, and the amateur humorist would then start taking lessons on the saxophone. If there were no red ants to play merry-go-round on the custard pie and lose their way in the vegetable salad, there would be no occasion to study these wonderful little creatures at close range. If there was no steaming coffee to upset upon a man's flannel trousers no roasting ears to be burned to cinders in a choking fire, no five-gallon pail of icy lemonade (with two lemons), no playful mosquitoes, no leaky paper cups, no deviled eggs, no sister's beau, no lost spoons, no camp-fire yodeling, our daily existence would verily become as drab as last season's bonnet. Let our reformer turn his attention to abolishing the pyramids. We're going on a picnic."

BOTH these views, of course, are wrong. The picnic is not good because it affords you a chance to study red ants and gorge on custard pie, though such things are well enough in themselves. Nor is it bad because you nearly always sit down in the geometrical centre of the jam tart. The picnic is an abominable institution for more important reasons, for what you might call philosophical reasons. It is an abomination because it is a pretence and a sham. It is a pretence by confirmed inmates of the city that they like the country. It is an invasion of nature by those who are not ready to take nature as they find it, but must bring along potato salad and paper plates. It is a cowardly kind of attempt to commune with the great-out-of-doors by people who are stuffed with cream puffs. It is a pollution of the great open spaces by organized guzzling and incipient indigestion. If you would approach Nature, approach her like a man and take what treatment she cares to give you. Don't try to save your immortal soul with peanut butter sandwiches. Don't eye the primrose on the river's brim while swilling weak lemonade.

INSTALLMENT buying is undermining the financial stability of the world. The seventh annual convention of the Association of Commercial Agencies of America was solemnly warned the other day by E. J. Ryan, president of the New York Commercial Agency. "There is no limit to the commodities or other purchases that may be made for $1 down and $1 a week," he said. "This condition means financial ruin for thousands of families depending upon a weekly wage or salary. Consultation with a financial adviser would enable many workers to avoid the financial difficulties that now beset them."

IMPRESSIVE words, these, and true, but oh, how dull! For we have reached such a state of installment buying now that most of us will not make the final payment on our present possessions for several years; and we cannot stop buying further on the same lines, for when we have finished making the current payments there is never enough money left to pay cash for anything. We must go on and on. The time is approaching when no one will ever own anything anymore. We shall have only a partial interest in everything from our automobile to the wife's last operation, and the cost of adding to the family doubtful will spread over the entire lifetime of the offspring. In the end a man will never be fully paid for in advance of his death, and his funeral will remain a charge against his heirs for several generations.

BENNETT TOURS BULKLEY VALLEY

Compared Canada and U.S.
Imports at Prince Rupert
Last Night

Prince Rupert, Aug. 13.—Hon. R. B. Bennett enters the Bulkley Valley to-night. Shortly before noon the Conservative chief minister, accompanied by Mr. Bennett's private secretary, Mr. Bennett's private secretary, Mr. Bennett's private secretary, where he will speak at his fifth meeting in the large and scattered northern constituency of Skeena extending to the Alaskan border. In his address here last night Mr. Bennett drew attention to the relatively large percentage of fully fabricated goods imported into Canada, as compared with United States imports. And he went further. Quoting from a trade report just issued, the opposition leader pointed to the small percentage of raw materials brought into this country as against the quantity of raw material entering the United States to be worked upon in that country.

Experts at Hague Strive For Compromise on Reparation
Deadlock

The Hague, Aug. 13.—The great statement of six powers this afternoon attempted to reach a compromise on the disputed provisions of the Young plan in the privacy of their hotel apartments.

While the financial experts of the conference attempted to break the deadlock between Great Britain and her allies over British demands for increased share of German reparations, the heads of the French, British, Belgian and German delegations met to talk over the date for evacuation of the Rhineland.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING
Officially, no dates have been even mentioned yet, but the chiefs of the delegations carefully consulted their military advisers before consulting discussion this afternoon.

Gossip at The Hague persistently mentioned Christmas as the date on which the Germans will be able to celebrate the final freedom of their territory from foreign occupation.

Better progress toward an understanding on evacuation of the Rhineland has been all along reported from the political committee than on the division of reparations from the financial committee. But important proposals in the spirit of compromise on the financial deadlock are expected from France, Belgium and Italy.

No announcement was made after conferences to-day between Mr. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, with Henri Jasper, Premier of Belgium, and Louis Loucheur, French Minister of Labor.

Aldermen William Marchant, R. A. C. Dewar and William Cullen, on behalf of Victoria lawn bowlers, who held a charity bowling match for the benefit of the Children's Aid Home and raised $81 thereby, were officially thanked by Mayor Herbert Anscomb last night at the City Council meeting. The benefit match had been a happy thought, and the money would be greatly appreciated, stated his Worship.

Five Parcels of City-owned Property Bought by Local Purchasers

Involved in five deals ratified by the City Council last night, $4,950 will be paid by local purchasers for city owned lands. The municipality of Oak Bay is the purchaser of a strip of land adjoining the Old Men's Home, required for road widening purposes, and for which the city will receive $1,000.

A local buyer, who is the present lessee of the site, will acquire a further portion of the Old Men's Home property at Cadboro Bay Road and Cranmore Road, not required in connection with the institution, and for which $2,000 will be paid to the city.

A lot on the west of Government Street, between Bay and John Streets, sold for $1,000 to another Victorian. Other lots on the north side of Henry Street and the north side of Montrose, between Jones and Cook Streets, will pass for $600 and $350 respectively, also to local purchasers. In connection with the Old Men's Home property, the necessary by-laws were given three readings and first passage last night, and will be ratified in their final form at the next meeting of the council.

MULTIPLIED BOARDS ARE DENOUNCED

Burnaby Snipes at School and Police Boards as Un-necessary

Alderman William Marchant Would Abolish Civic Police, Hospitals and Schools

Spurred by the example of Burnaby, which seeks the abolition of all school trustees and police commissioners in British Columbia, universal old age pensions at sixty-five years of age, and other slight changes of the present order, the Victoria City Council last night accepted a lead from Alderman William Marchant and added a number of points to the list of subjects to be talked about by the Union of B.C. Municipalities at its next convention.

OLD AGE PENSIONS The council vetoed the abolition of school boards and police commissioners, but agreed that sixty-five was the age at which the present system of old age pensions should begin.

Mr. Marchant found the council in a plastic, agreeable mood, willing to go halfway with anyone, and more than willing when pressed with the fire and eloquence of the veteran alderman. He almost succeeded in securing support for a two-year term for Mayor, a cause for which he has persistently striven for a number of years. But the council failed him at the last minute, and Mr. Marchant had to be content with the rest of his budget of suggested changes which the Province will be asked to make in municipal legislation, if the Union concurs.

COUNTY EDUCATION The list was impressive enough as it stood. It places the Victoria City Council on record as favoring the abolition of municipal limits for education, and their replacement by larger areas, or counties, with the distribution of cost and the unification of control that such a plan would entail. In Victoria, he said, this would mean the centralization of work now under the control of four school boards, and of rates collected by four sets of municipal authority.

ADVOCATES HEALTH TAX Successful in this, Mr. Marchant advanced upon the council with the problems of hospital costs and service outbursts in his hands. There should be a Provincial wide health tax, and the cost of hospital upkeep should cease to be a municipal affair, but should be the charge on the Province at large, he said.

This was the Greater Victoria plan applied to hospitals as well as schools, said Alderman E. S. Woodward, supporting the motion, which carried. The motion pledged city support for the plan at the Union conference, to take place shortly at Harrison Hot Springs. SHORT FIVE FOR MAYOR Alderman Marchant called for all in an effort to make the council see the wisdom of a two-year term for mayor, where two-year aldermen were permitted. He secured the support of Alderman William Cullin, but the plan was voted out without even a formal counting of noses.

Undaunted, Mr. Marchant challenged the council to say that a city would not be better off for the abolition of a municipal police force. Police work should be directly under the Provincial authorities, with the abolition of all civic forces, he thought.

POLICELESS CENTRE Alderman James Adam recited the plight of Sidney, B.C., left momentarily without a constable of any kind. Alderman E. S. Woodward found the Victoria municipal force very satisfactory, with an absence of all major crime as it was. Mr. Marchant's ideas on the subject were a little advanced, he intimated, declining the honor of seconding the abolition motion.

Mr. Marchant had yet another arrow in his quiver. This time it was a demand for greater freedom for the investment of municipal funds. Victoria could have saved large sums of money if it had been permitted to follow its own ideas in this regard, the purchase of its own securities. As it was, the municipal act operated as a hindrance, and an unjust one in some instances, he asserted. Widened powers to invest in home securities could be made subject to the control of the inspector of municipalities, he argued.

But there Mr. Marchant's support left him, and the motion to urge a change in the system of investment for British Columbia municipalities was tabled until next week. After three hours of debate, involving an agenda of thirty-five items in all, the council adjourned.

CITY FATHERS OUTLAW SLIDES AT ALL PARKS

Polished by the seats of many hilarious small boys, the metal slides and chutes of Victoria parks must go! Their doom was sealed by the City Council last night on the recommendation of the parks committee.

The parks committee "regretted the action," but were of the opinion that no other course could be pursued. The problem of protecting the children from harm in either metal covered or wooden chutes had proved incapable of solution, and the only course was to do away with all slides of that nature, the committee reported. Dignified city aldermen cast back to the days of their boyhood to find a way out of the dilemma, but no solution was found.

Instructions to park officers to remove all slides will go out early this week, and will be acted on without loss of time. The council was influenced, it said, by dangerous and expensive accidents in mainland parks with similar contrivances. A "safe and sane" type of slide had been sought, but none could be found. And so the slides must go!

Protests Delay Ordaining Women

Montreal, Que., Aug. 13.—Postponement of the question of admitting women to the ministry by the Wesleyan Conference at Plymouth, Eng., has called forth a letter to the Gazette from Mrs. John Scott, noted feminist, protesting against the delay in taking definite action on this matter by various denominations. Approaching consummation of union between three branches of English Methodism and the difficulties involved was pleaded by the Wesleyan Conference in postponing a decision, and Mrs. Scott says this is just what was heard in Canada before the formation of the United Church.

MILITARY SCENE AT LAST NIGHT'S SMART WEDDING

Miss Kathrine Dorothy Jackson and Major Roy Sargent Principals in Wedding

With all the ceremony attending a military wedding, the marriage of Kathrine Dorothy, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, of 1062 Collier Street, and Major David Roy Sargent, of the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Sargent of Victoria took place last evening at 8.30 at the First United Church Rev. Bruce Gray performed the wedding ceremony.

To the strains of the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin," the bride entered the church with her father. She made a graceful picture in her simple wedding gown of rich ivory satin, with close fitting, bodice and full skirt which hung to her ankles at the back. Her veil of Brussels net, embroidered with silver, was caught to her head at the back of the neck with a strand of orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of Ophelia roses, sweet peas, white heather and maidenhair fern.

Her sister, Mrs. Eric Dawson, was matron of honor, and Miss Virtue Ewington was bridesmaid. They wore charming frocks of gold and white tulle, respectively, and mohair hats to match, trimmed with soft satin ribbon of the same shade. Their bouquets were of gladioli and delphiniums.

Little Master Perry Dawson, nephew of the bride, in a white satin suit, carried the ring on a white satin cushion. The groom was supported by Captain Ralph Matthews, of Regina, and the ushers were Lieuts. Tom Woolson, Charles Fraser and Bill Lambert.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Harry Lazenby sang very charmingly, "God Touched the Rose." Blue and white against a background of ferns and palms were the colors chosen for the church decorations, the scarlet uniforms of the officers adding an additional note of color. During the ceremony the bride and groom stood beneath an arch of Shasta daisies and gypsophylla, with tall baskets of daisies, gladioli, fern and Californian tree poppies were placed at either side. The guest pews were marked with bouquets of daisies and gypsophylla, tied with white tulle. The decorations were the handiwork of Mrs. Eric P. Dawson, of Nelson, B.C., and friends of the bride.

As the members of the bridal party left the church they passed under the crossed swords of the guard of honor, composed of fellow officers of the groom, while the regimental band and the organists, Mr. J. Smith, played the wedding march. The bride and groom, seated in a carriage, which was draped with the Union Jack and bore the regimental crest at the back, were drawn by men of the regiment through the city to the Armories, where the reception was held.

The officers' mess had been beautifully decorated with masses of flowers, the fireplace before which the bride and groom stood being banked with roses and greenery. They were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Jackson, who wore a smart ensemble of cocoa-brown tulle and hat to match, and by Mr. Sargent, who wore a becoming mid-night blue georgette gown and hat to match. Each wore a corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

After receiving the good wishes of their friends, the bride cut the four-tier wedding cake which graced the centre of the long supper table. The table was arranged with rambler roses and tall blue candles in silver candleabra. The many handsome wedding gifts were placed on the billiard table in the mess, and among them was a beautiful silver tray from the groom's fellow officers, and a set of table silver from the bride's associates at the Bank of Montreal.

Later, Major and Mrs. Sargent left for Vancouver, en route to Alaska on the Princess Louisa. The bride travelled in a smart ensemble of apple green tulle and hat of the same shade, trimmed with touches of ecru. Following the departure of the bride and groom, dancing was enjoyed by the wedding guests.

On their return from the honeymoon, the bride and groom will live in Nanaimo.

QUIET WEDDING AT CATHEDRAL

Miss Gwendoline Mae Ford Verrinder and Mr. W. V. T. Leight Married Saturday

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Christ Church Cathedral on Saturday evening, when Gwendoline Mae Ford, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ford Verrinder, of "Warburton," McGregor Avenue, was united in marriage to Mr. Willoughby Victor James Leigh, fourth son of Rev. Francis Leigh and Mrs. Leigh of Galt, Ontario. Dean Quinton officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attired in a model gown of rose beige Canton crepe and lace. Her small French hat was in matching tones, and she carried a bouquet of bride roses, sweet peas and heather.

She was attended by her cousin, Miss Catherine Wollaston, the maid of honor, who wore a gown of printed chiffon and a picture hat, and the bridesmaid, Miss Nancy Wollaston, who was attired in a frock of mauve georgette, with hat to match. They each carried bouquets of mauve and pink sweet peas.

Little Miss Cynthia Cowan, niece of the bride, made a dainty flower girl in a frock and hat of blue organdie, carrying a basket of sweet peas.

The groom was supported by Mr. Ford Verrinder, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a reception was held for the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Leigh will later reside in Vancouver.

Park Officials On Way to City

Van M. Giffith, president of the Los Angeles Parks Board, and W. C. Yeatman, member of the board, are on their way to Victoria this week in connection with arrangements for the 1930 convention of Pacific Coast Park Commissioners, to be held at Los Angeles. The party will visit Portland, Seattle, and other cities en route, before arrival here towards the end of this week.

Los Angeles was awarded the twelfth annual convention, and is starting already on plans to ensure the success of the gathering next year. John Baxter, mayor secretary and secretary of civic committees, is the secretary of the international association, which includes cities and towns in British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and California.

Gosse, Mrs. T. W. Allan, Mrs. H. W. Davey, Mrs. Margaret Schell, Miss Margaret Adam, Miss Edna Lunney, Miss "Byrd" Loney, Miss Elsie Jenkins, Miss Helen Bolt, Miss Kathleen Tadmam, Miss Dorothy Witley, Miss Wilmie Sherr, Miss Gladys Greer, Miss Hilda Margrets, Miss "Bunny" Thompson, Miss Helen Maxwell, Miss Allison Chrow and Miss Connie Chrow.

Mrs. H. Nancarrow and Mrs. W. T. Burley were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Gertrude Lloyd, a popular bride-elect at the home of Mrs. W. T. Burley, Fifth Street, on Friday evening. The rooms were artistically decorated in pale pink and mauve. The many useful gifts were presented to the bride-elect in a floral basket. The evening was spent in competitions and games, and a buffet supper brought the evening to a close. Among the invited guests were: Miss Lloyd, Mrs. C. H. Williams, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. A. Stevens, Mrs. A. Hicks, Mrs. Norman, Mrs. E. Hicks, Lucille Blake, Essie Newell, Florrie Smethurst, Mona Morgan, Margaret Nancarrow, Muriel Knowles, Margaret Thompson and Rose Murphy, Mr. W. P. Burley, Mr. H. Williams, Mr. George Derrick, Mr. Harry Nancarrow and Mr. S. Norman.

A miscellaneous shower was held on Sunday afternoon in the garden of Mrs. Hubert Savage, Grange Road, in honor of Miss Maureen McConnan, a popular bride-elect, whose marriage to Mr. Brian Greaves will take place on August 21. A pretty incident was a "mock wedding" in which the bride, Joy Savage, the groom, Daphne Preston, with bridesmaids, Mimi and Paddy Jacques, and Douglas, as page, walked under an arch formed of tennis racquets held by the gentlemen. Tea was served subsequently on the lawn. The gifts were concealed in a large yellow silk-covered boudoir box. Those present were Miss M. McConnan, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sutcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Preston, Mr. and Mrs. Jacques, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hargreaves, Mr. and Mrs. D. Penfold, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Mr. W. P. Burley, Mr. H. Williams, Mr. George Derrick, Mr. Harry Nancarrow and Mr. S. Norman.

A delightful kitchen shower was given by Mrs. H. Fletcher at her home, 1403 Myrtle Avenue, in honor of her niece, Miss Madge Daniels, whose marriage will take place on the twenty-first of this month. The rooms were tastefully decorated with gladioli and gypsophylla. A beautifully decorated chicken basket, the work of Miss Martine Thompson, filled with a varied collection of useful articles for the kitchen, was carried in by the little Misses Olive Smith and Nellie Thompson, who presented the gifts to the bride-elect. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. Thompson and Mrs. Brownsey of "Thorn." The invited guests were Mrs. A. F. Welch, Mrs. R. J. Crocker-Smith, Mrs. McMaster, Mrs. Jack Anous, Mrs. W. Baker, Mrs. H. W. Baker, Mrs. E. S. Woodward, Mrs. S. Under, Mrs. Tilden, Mrs. Gage, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Brownsey, Mr. Hadland, Mrs. Joe Skipsey, Mrs. A. J. Daniels, Mrs. Bob Robinson, Mrs. V. Fournace and Mrs. Menagh and the Misses Anne Fountain of Vancouver, Gladys Beall, Eunice and Joy Whitehead, Margaret Woodward, Jessie Watson, Marjorie Thompson, Margaret Brynolfson, Macquinn, Barbara Daniels, Ruth Saunders, Jenn Smith and Mary Grand, of Portland.

"If it hadn't been for Eagle Brand Condensed Milk she would have died..."

she was born last July and weighed 8 lbs. She was always fretful and whining and restless and seemed to be getting thinner every day. I took her to the doctor and he told me the baby was dying. She was three months old and weighed 6 1/2 lbs. He told me to wean her and put her on Eagle Brand Milk. We gave her just what you would give a new born baby and kept increasing it. She is now 7 months old, has two teeth, weighs 18 lbs. and is the picture of health and is as good as gold. Eagle Brand has been a blessing.

SMART WEDDING AT VICTORIA WEST

Miss Grace Elizabeth Rees and Mr. F. G. Hardy Married on Saturday Evening

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Victoria West United Church on Saturday evening when Grace Elizabeth, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Rees, became the bride of Mr. Frederick Gordon Hardy, youngest son of Mrs. Thomas Hardy of Ladysmith in the presence of a large gathering of friends. The church was prettily decorated with Shasta daisies and gladioli by friends of the bride. Rev. C. H. Ballard of Port Moody officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March, played by the organist, Mr. J. T. Fitteroff, Mus. Bac. F.R.C.O. She made a charming picture in her dress of white silk tulle and tulle lace, her wedding veil being worn cap shape and held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and white carnations.

Miss Joyce Rees, sister of the bride, wore a dainty dress of pale green georgette with tiered skirt and cape collar and carried a bouquet of white carnations and mauve sweet peas.

Mr. Stanley Remison was best man, and the ushers - Messrs. Eric Penny and Arthur Jackman.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. J. O. Welch sang very sweetly Sanderson's "All Joy Be Thine."

A reception was held at the home of

DIVORCE COSTS MAY BE LOWERED IN OLD COUNTRY

London, Aug. 13.—Facilities for obtaining divorce at the minimum expense will be extended if the recommendations of the Government committee, published today, are adopted. Before 1922 divorces were granted only in the high court division, sitting in London. For many years this system was widely condemned as virtually limiting divorce to those with long purses, able to afford the expense of bringing witnesses to London and bearing heavy legal costs.

Accordingly, in 1922, it was ordained that divorce proceedings of a certain class could be taken at selected assizes in the country. Out of sixty towns, nineteen were selected.

The committee now recommends that eight other towns should be added to those where divorce proceedings can be taken.

The committee admits that in principle there is no reason why divorce cases should not be heard in every assize town, but in practice they apprehend there would be danger, because assize registrars who undertake the preliminary work have no experience of divorce law and practice. These facilities for obtaining divorces in the country are of course taken advantage of mostly by poor people.

PATHWAYS TO HEALTH—No. 1

Today, more than ever before, medical and dental authorities are pointing to the importance of properly caring for the teeth in order to have good health.

How can boys and girls—how can grown folks, they ask—develop sturdy, healthy bodies if their systems are being undermined by poison from decayed teeth? Between sixty and eight-five per cent. of the children alone, in Canada, have been found to have defective teeth! And the direct cause of this condition has been traced in an alarming number of cases to their daily food!

Too Much Soft Food

Nowadays, people eat soft foods almost entirely—foods which require little or no chewing. The teeth and gums, like any other part of the body, must have proper exercise. Chewing is the exercise Nature intended them to have in order to grow normally and to remain healthy and beautiful. No artificial methods—no brushing of teeth and gums—can make and keep the teeth healthy unless Nature's way is followed also.

The important thing is to build teeth with foods that supply properly-balanced nourishment.

Exercise teeth with foods that require thorough mastication.

Both of these laws are vital.

The delicious cereal food Grape-Nuts is admirable for this reason. It comes in the form of crisp, nut-like granules that must be chewed. And everyone likes to chew Grape-Nuts—likes to get this natural exercise that is needed so much because thorough chewing of the crunchy Grape-Nuts grains brings out their delicious flavour to the full.

Tooth-Builder, Also

Grape-Nuts helps also, to build sound teeth. Grape-Nuts is a wonderful food in every way. An expert on foods originated it to supply to the body elements which he found to be lacking in the average diet. Grape-Nuts is made from two healthful golden grains—whole wheat and malted barley. By special processes of preparation the goodness of the original grains is retained, the delicate, nut-like flavour is fully brought out and the food is rendered easily digestible. Grape-Nuts contributes to the body dextrins, maltose and other carbohydrates which give energy; iron, which enriches the blood; phosphorus, so necessary to the proper development of

FIND OVERWORK NOT BLAMEABLE FOR BREAKDOWNS

Human Body and Brain Capable of Carrying Heavy Load

All too often when men and women "give out", overwork is blamed. Overwork is, in most cases, not the cause—as authorities are finding out today more than ever before. Physicians know now that the human body and brain can carry a heavy load of work and responsibility without harm. They see another reason for these many cases of "cracking under strain"—wrong food!

Food plays a tremendously important part in daily life. There are certain food elements which the body must have every day to carry on successfully and happily. Several years ago a man who had studied foods all his life set about to originate one food which would supply these elements the body needs for energy and vitality. That food is Grape-Nuts.

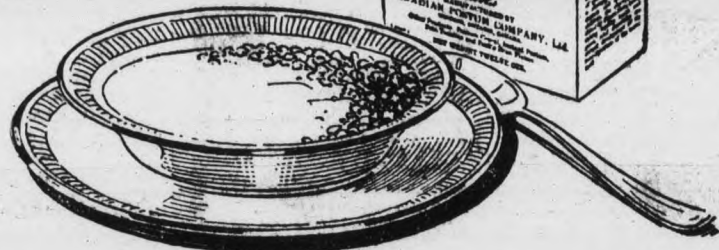

"You wouldn't have me get FAT, would you, Doctor?"

"You wouldn't have me get fat," is just one of the many excuses a doctor hears from his patients when he attempts to build up their health and strength by prescribing nourishing food. Another is, "But I can't work on a heavy breakfast."

In meeting these objections, many doctors are recommending Grape-Nuts. For even a small breakfast of Grape-Nuts provides rounded nourishment. Grape-Nuts is rich in the very elements likely to be lacking in modern meals—elements needed by everyone every day. And such a recommendation is well-earned—for Grape-Nuts is one of the most delicious of foods. Its golden brown kernels have a rich, nut-like flavour that is universally liked.

World Favourite of the Millions who eat for Happiness!

GRAPE-NUTS is a breakfast-time favourite the whole world 'round. Millions have found in this wonderful food the key to delicious breakfasts.

Grape-Nuts has a delicate, nut-like flavour. It is crisp—to give healthful exercise to teeth and gums through enjoyable chewing. It is one of the most easily digested of foods. It supplies five essential elements of nutrition. And it costs less than one cent a serving.

Buy a package today. It's wax-wrapped. And ready to eat from the package—with milk or cream. Serve four teaspoonfuls to each person.

S. Pessl of Vienna and Budapest advises a simple way to skin beauty

"I earnestly recommend to my clients that they use only Palmolive Soap because its gentle action leaves the skin in a healthy, smooth, normal condition which is the very foundation of a beautiful complexion."

S. Pessl

VIENNA-BUDAPEST

In gay Vienna, where the women are enchanting; in romantic Budapest on the Danube—there is one name in beauty culture which has been recognized for over a hundred years—the name of Pessl!

Today, in the celebrated shop across from the Opera in Vienna, S. Pessl carries on the tradition of the Pessl name.

MONSIEUR Pessl, of Vienna and Budapest, has one favorite home treatment for keeping complexions youthful... a treatment based on twice-a-day use of Palmolive Soap. And all the great beauty specialists of Europe agree in this with Pessl.

"I should naturally have been led, by my knowledge of the complexion effects of palm and olive oils, to have invented a soap made exclusively from them," says S. Pessl.

"As these oils are already combined in Palmolive Soap, I earnestly recommend to my patrons that they use only this soap." Pessl's "foundation treatment" is just this: massage the warm rich lather of Palmolive into the skin for 2 minutes—rinse with warm, then cold water. That is all. Yet millions find renewed youth each day this way.

Raglan Cuts

Some of the smartest new tweed coats feature the raglan sleeve. Fur trims them decoratively, rather than merely fashions a collar and cuffs. One has godets of fur in both the skirt portion and the sleeves.

Hips' Importance

New styles emphasize the hips in charming manner. But the slender figure still is capitalized. Yokes and other hip treatment is much smarter over slenderized lines.

Back Interest

There is much attention given to the rear portion of coats, frocks and evening gowns. A pure white satin dancing frock has five American beauty roses rounding its low sultan décolletage.

AMBITIOUS ANDREW AT THE TRACK
The Cast-Ambitious Andrew, a Jockey's first cousin and a common tout.

ACT I
Ambitious Andrew (thumping a racing form and thinking out loud)—I think I'll get Galloping Goose this race; lemme see, he ran the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5 at Colwood two years ago last August.

(He starts to get Galloping Goose when he meets a Jockey's first cousin, Jockey's First Cousin—Who yuh on, big boy?)

A. A.—I'm gonna get Galloping Goose.

J. F. C.—Don't be a sap. He's sore. Willie Wilmer, the jockey, is my first cousin. He told me here I come couldn't lose.

A. A.—But I think I'll get Galloping Goose, just the same. My mother told me never to take tips at a race track.

(He goes and gets Galloping Goose. Here I come wins the race all by himself and pays $111.50.)

ACT II
A. A. (thinking audibly again)—I wish I could find that jockey's cousin around here now. Oh, boy, why didn't I take his hunch!

(A. A. meets the common tout.) Common Tout—Who yuh gonna get this race, big boy?

A. A.—I can't quite figure. I'm expecting some information from a Jockey's first cousin.

C. T.—I'll give yuh a hot one. Sulphur and Molasses. That filly is all set.

(Just then the jockey's first cousin comes up.)

J. F. C.—Well, what did I tell you? Did yuh bet it?

A. A.—Nope, I bet the Goose.

J. F. C.—Well, here's another. Terrible Thomas. He's in.

A. A.—I think I'll get it.

J. F. C.—Bet five for me, too, will yuh, buddy?

(A. A. proceeds to get Terrible Thomas, with a five for the J. F. C. Sulphur and Molasses wins the race and pays $110.60.)

ACT III
A. A. (thinking very loud this time)—Well, I must be a sap, why didn't I take that bird's tip!

(He meets the C. T. again and J. F. C. strolls up later. The jockey's first cousin, A. A. again looks at his Racing Form.)

C. T.—Who d'yuh like this time, fellow?

A. A.—I like Don't Miss. Who do you like?

C. T.—Rank Poison. He's in.

(A. A. goes and gets Rank Poison, placing a five for the C. T. Don't Miss wins the race and pays $109.70.)

(Curtain)

One of the old bromides that has been handed down from father to son is that you never can tell what will happen in baseball. One of the presidents of the National League coined the phrase and it has become a legend.

Last spring in San Antonio John McGraw was explaining how he had improved his New York Giants for the approaching pennant race.

He said his outfield had been improved vastly and he spoke in glowing terms of Tony Kaufmann, the former Chicago pitcher.

"I signed Kaufmann for his hitting. He also is a fine fielder. He will be of more value to us than Leslie Mann was last year. At the present time I plan to alternate him regularly in the outfield," he said.

Up to the first of August Kaufmann had failed to get his first hit and he had been at the bat twenty-five times. The Giant outfield was crippled and McGraw had to stick him in as a regular, and a fellow who can't get a hit in half a season is not of much value in the outfield. Or elsewhere.

McGraw also was supremely confident that Larry Benton would have another good season.

"Don't the averages show that a pitcher seldom has two great seasons in succession? But not a great pitcher. The great pitchers go along at about the same rate. Benton is a great pitcher. I'm sure he will do as well this year. Perhaps better. Because we will have more defence in the outfield."

The same uncertainty exists in other lines of sport. Mack Garner will attest to it.

Garner, one of the leading jockeys, rode Blue Lockwood in his last races. He figured that he had a life job handling the horse that stands a good chance to become the biggest money winner of the American turf.

Colonel E. R. Bradley, the immensely wealthy owner of the colt, is a generous employer. He pays well and gives his jockeys a big cut of the purses they win.

On the strength of future cuts of the colt's earnings and his salary, Garner bought a palatial home and provided his family with numerous luxuries.

Number of Minor Tennis Tournaments Will Open Soon

Play Commences To-morrow in South Cowichan Competition; Many Local and Mainland Stars to Take Part in Duncan Event Opening Next Week; Island Men's and Women's Singles and Mixed Doubles Championships Will Be at Stake.

To-morrow will witness the opening of the first of the minor island tennis tournaments when plays commence in the annual competition staged by the South Cowichan Tennis Club. At this four-day event the men's and women's doubles championships of Vancouver Island will be at stake. The finals are scheduled for Saturday. Only a few Victorians will play in this competition.

Hoeking and Cunningham, who won the men's title last year, will not be present to defend their honors. By their victory they were the second outsiders to win the cup in fifteen years.

Sonnenberg Wins From Canuck In Straight Falls

Waterloo, Ia., Aug. 13.—Gus Sonnenberg successfully defended his world's heavyweight wrestling championship last night by defeating Stanley Pinta, Toronto, in straight falls.

Split Season Bolsters Up Coast Loop

Bigger Attendances, Better Games and a Closer Race Have Resulted

Six Teams Now Have Chance of Winning Out; Two Teams Tied For Lead

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—Baseball seems to be "hitting on all six" in the Coast League at present, and many skeptics who opposed splitting the season in short notice are exchanging their smoked glasses for those of the rose-colored variety.

Briefly, here are some of the results since the moguls abruptly chopped the season into halves after playing fourteen weeks of what was to have been a straight-through schedule:

A tight race in the second half. Increased attendance, in the aggregate, if not locally.

Better games. In the first half the Missions made a runaway race of it and interest was lagging to say the least. It is a different story beginning this, the seventh week of the second half.

Any one of six teams, namely, Missions, Seals, Hollywood, Los Angeles, Oakland and Portland, has a chance to clinch home in a winning finish. They are positioned in the order named. The Missions and Seals, tied for top honors, are but six and one-half full games ahead of the Portland Ducks.

PORTLAND IMPROVES
Portland appears to be headed in the right direction in the second half after going nowhere in particular during the first part of the season. President Tom Turner put the money "on the line" for a couple of outfielders, patched up the infield, and has what can now be classed as a real team. The Ducks have had a good pitching staff all along, and with the present reinforcements should give any of the other outfits plenty of trouble.

By snatching last week's series four games to three from the Seals, the Missions moved up to even terms with their local rivals. The series brought out a total of 68,020 persons, an attendance calculated to make the most tactician club owner a joyful fellow indeed. The mark is but 500 less than the record turnout here during the first half when the two clubs met for the first time.

The two southern clubs, Hollywood and Los Angeles, are just around the corner from top place, and either could pop into the leadership during one series, providing they win and the others lose.

Sacramento and Seattle are mixed too deeply to hold out much hope for them.

Games this week will bring together the Missions at Los Angeles, Hollywood at San Francisco, Oakland at Sacramento, Portland at Seattle.

Stanley Stasiak Is Defeated By Deadly Tackle

Montreal, Aug. 13.—Stanley Stasiak, conqueror of Wladek Zbyszko, fell prey to the flying tackle last night. It was Henri Deglane, the young French grappler, who applied this weapon to defeat the hitherto unbeaten Stasiak.

After losing the first fall, the determined Frenchman was awarded the final two falls on fouls, as Stasiak, disabled by the flying tackle, but not out, resorted to the rabbit punch to protect himself.

Lacrosse Teams To Meet In Last Match Of Series

Clashing in the final encounter of the scheduled five-game play-off series, Oakland and South Park lacrosse teams will meet at the Royal Athletic Park this evening at 6:15 o'clock.

In the event of a win for South Park the teams will be forced to play an extra sudden-death fixture to decide the city title. At present Oakland has a one-game lead.

STABLE PUTS OVER DOUBLE

Sunfire and American Capture Handicaps at Saratoga Track Yesterday

New York, Aug. 13.—The winner-trainer combination of R. T. Wilson Jr. and T. J. Healey put over a double win at Saratoga yesterday when they sent out Sunfire to win the Vatterbury Handicap and American to account for the Cliff Haven—the secondary features of an ordinary Monday's programme at the exclusive Spa.

In the Waterbury, Bud Fisher's three-year-old star Ball ran second, while trailing in third position was Marine. Sunfire was quoted at 9 to 2. African, victor once in twenty starts, chalked up the second win of his racing career against a field of three-year-olds over a mile route. Electra took down the place money with the short end of the purse going to the Hitt colorbearer. African paid 13 to 5.

The day's programme at the New York upstate track featured the winning of the Catekill claiming stake by Benjamin Block's Mordine, a four-year-old son of Morvich. The jaunty over the seven furlongs was worth $3,375 to Mordine's owner, E. Kennedy, had a leg up on the winner. Mordine led Sun forward to the wire by three lengths, show money going to Night Life.

KHARA IS WINNER
Khara, a prominent member of the Ranocosa Stable's long string of winning juveniles, easily won the test handicap, which was run at Hawthorne as a trial for the Chicago juvenile handicap, to be decided next Saturday.

Six two-year-olds opposed the Ranocosa star but Lightning Jones, which finished second, could never get closer than two lengths to the flying Khara. Plucky Play ran third throughout to take third money by three lengths. The race was worth $1,000 to the Ranocosa Stable, while Khara, neglected in the wagering, paid her backers $16.92 for $2 mutual win ticket.

Montreal, Aug. 13.—The British Empire Games will be held in Hamilton, Ont. the week of August 16 to 23 inclusive, 1930. Decision to this effect was reached yesterday at a meeting of the executive of the British Empire Games Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, held here under the chairmanship of E. W. Beatty, K.C., with J. T. Savage, of Montreal; Major D. S. Forbes, Montreal; Colonel W. Bovey, Montreal; Professor R. R. London, Toronto, president of the A.A.U. of Ontario, and M. M. Robinson, Hamilton, chairman of the Hamilton committee, in attendance.

Pursey Sets Dizzy Pace In Tourney

Seattle Golfer Chalks Up Score of 138, Six Under Par, in Washington Open

Has One Eagle and Eight Birdies; Bon Stein Leads Amateur Field

Seattle, Aug. 13.—Collecting one eagle and eight birdies, Walter Pursey, Seattle professional and defending champion, made the remarkable score of 138—six under par to take the lead at the half-way mark yesterday in the two-day seventy-two-hole Washington State open golf tournament. He took 70 on the morning eighteen and 68 on the afternoon round.

Although shooting phenomenal golf, Pursey only led by one stroke as Frank Rodia, another local professional, stroked the 36 holes 139 or five under Pursey's figures. Rodia was the first to finish and was looked upon as a cinch to lead the field until Pursey walked in with his fancy card.

Rodia cut strokes off par the last nine holes when he garnered four birdies. He finished the afternoon eighteen in four under perfect score despite two sixes when he collected nine threes. Pursey also got victim to a pair of sixes on the afternoon round but an eagle and five birdies more than made up for the loss.

Mortie Duntz, Tacoma professional, and Cleve Jefferson, Seattle club instructor, tied for third best with even par—144. Johnny Jones, Seattle professional, turned in 146.

STEIN LOW AMATEUR
Bon Stein, of Seattle, was the low amateur of the field with 147. William Hanley and Oscar Holter, Seattle professionals, also had 147, while Dave Black, Vancouver, B.C. pro, and Neal Christian, Portland professional, each had 148.

After taking a miserable 91 at the morning eighteen, Maynard Fredericks, Port Angeles pro, tied with Smith, Yakima professional and Chuck Hunter, Tacoma amateur, with a brilliant 69 in the afternoon. Each had a total of 140.

Duncan Sutherland, Vancouver, B.C. amateur, finished with a score of 157. The first forty names qualify for the last thirty-six holes to-day.

The remaining thirty-six holes in the open tournament will be played to-day. The state amateur championship will begin to-morrow.

Hamburg, Germany, Aug. 13.—Jacques Brugnon and Christian Bousquet, of France, won the men's doubles title at the German lawn tennis championships yesterday, defeating Pierre Landry, of France, and P. D. Spence, of South Africa, 8-6, 6-2, 6-4 in the final round.

JOKERS WIN AND TIE UP PLAY-OFF

Two World's Anglins Marks Are Shattered

Missula, Mont., Aug. 13.—Two world's records were broken and one was equalled here Sunday in the final events of the annual tournament of the Western Association of Angling Clubs.

Louis Guerin, of San Francisco, broke the world's mark for wet fly distance casting with an average of 135 feet, 4 inches. His longest toss, 141 feet, also eclipsed the world's record. The former marks were made in Denver in 1923 by George Chait, of Chicago. Chait's average was 123 feet, his longest cast 125 feet.

Ralph Lyttaker, of Seattle, tied the world's record for accuracy casting with a score of 100. Dr. W. E. Schreiber, of Missoula, scored one-tenth of point less than Lyttaker.

George Guerin, of San Francisco, won the 5-9-ounce bait accuracy 98.7. William E. Peterson, of Seventeen in Class "A" with a score of 99.3, took honors in Class "B" with a score of 99.3.

PICK CREWS FOR REGATTA

Flumerfelt Cup Race For J.B.A.A. Junior Fours to Feature Club Meet

With four husky crews lined up for the Flumerfelt Cup race, the junior four event promises to be the outstanding feature of the J.B.A.A. club regatta on August 24.

Members of the four which swept to victory in N.P.A.A.O. regatta in July will stroke the different crews in this event and should put plenty of keen competition in the race.

Al. Wright, Bert Wills, Rex Askey and Brian Hunning will set the pace of the different crews in this event. In the senior doubles, Jack Miller and Andy Heron are expected to row against Jack Crane and Brian Hunning in what should prove another interesting event, while in the junior doubles Webster and Stancil will occupy seats in one of the boats.

Gav. Hume will stroke a novice crew in the "greenies" event against another squad which has never rowed in competition before.

Following the regatta the club members will enjoy a dance in their quarters at the Gorge and will wind up the week-end with a tennis tournament on Sunday. In the latter event some interesting sets are promised when the racket wielders of the club settle their differences on the court.

Tillicums Will Oppose Five C's

In the Wednesday League cricket matches scheduled to-morrow the Five C's and Tillicums will play at Beacon Hill, and the T. and V's and Hudson's Bay at Mount Tolmie. Both matches will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Giant Italian Puts Away Cook

New York, Aug. 13.—Arthur Dekub, Italian heavyweight, knocked out George Cook, of Australia, in the eighth round of their ten-round bout at Starlight Park last night. Cook was counted out after fifty-eight seconds of fighting in the eighth round. He claimed a foul, but his protest was disallowed.

DON'T LET HIM FOO YOU, KRABBY—THAT BIRD'S SO LOO DOWN HE COULD HIDE IN THE GRASS ON A PUTTING GREEN!

Los Angeles, Aug. 13.—Two of the city's biggest subjects, George Godfrey, of Leipsville, Pa., and "Long Tom" Hawkins, of San Diego, Cal., negroes, whose combined weight closely approaches the quarter-ton mark, will go ten rounds or less here to-night.

The great physical advantages which the "black shadow" usually boasts over his foe, will be lessened considerably in the meeting with Hawkins, the elongated San Diego fighter being almost his physical equal. Hawkins towers 6 feet 4½ inches in height, a half-inch more than Godfrey. Weight, however, will favor Godfrey. He will scale around 240 pounds, about twenty more than Hawkins will pack.

Although Hawkins in the last year has chalked up a number of notable wins, betting odds favor Godfrey by a sizeable figure. The bout will mark Godfrey's first appearance in this section since he defeated Paolo Uzzu-dun, the basque here more than a year ago.

Stickney Allows Tillicums Four Hits and His Team Wins 7-4

Craig Hits Home Run; Fourth and Deciding Game To-morrow Night

Getting away to a four-run lead in the second inning when Eric Whitehead was nicked for four hits, which coupled with three walks and an error allowed four runners to romp home, the Jokers were successful in defeating the Tillicums 7-4 at the Royal Athletic Park last night in the third of the series to decide which club will meet the Sons of Canada in the final playoff for the championship of the Senior Amateur Baseball League.

By winning the Jokers have now tied up the series, each club having won one game, while the third was tied. The fourth and deciding game will be staged to-morrow night. The clubs have been giving some splendid exhibitions and the deciding fixture should be no exception.

BALLOON GOES UP
No scoring was seen in the first inning, but in the fourth Whitehead breezed into a carload of trouble. The first man walked and three hits in a row accounted for two runs. Two more walks were issued out, and a bad throw to the plate by Greene let two more runners home. Whitehead was then replaced by Cann.

The Jokers scored two more runs in the fourth. Downs, the first batter to face Cann connected with a slow ball for three bases, and scored on Darcy's single to right field. Darcy stole second, went to third on Smith's scratch hit and scored on an error by Love.

In the fifth Downs went around the bags to score the Jokers' seventh and final run.

Tillicums broke into the score column in the fifth, McLaren getting a single and scoring when Craig lifted the ball over the centre field fence. In the sixth the clubmen sent two more runners home. Barnes was walked and completed the circuit on errors by Gandy and Belcher. Cann, who reached first on Gandy's error, went to second on Belcher's bobble, third on a passed ball and crossed the plate on a wild pitch by Stickney.

Stickney, although he was inclined to be wild, allowed the Tillicums only four hits, while he struck out six and walked four. Cann breezed five, was touched for like number of hits, and walked two.

Jim Darcy led the hitters with three hits out of a like number of trips to the rubber.

PRICES ARE ATTRACTIVE AT COLWOOD

Don Eduardo Returns $44 For $2 in First Event Yesterday

Yesterday's card at the Colwood track produced some beautiful finishes which kept the fair-sized crowd on tip-toes. Fancy looking prices were mixed in with the short ones to provide the necessary spice on the programme.

Don Eduardo, a seven-year-old gelding which runs under the colors of Mrs. C. B. Valentine, pulled what a good many of the punters thought was a mean trick when he snatched the big share of the pot in the first event and rewarded his few backers with $44.15 for nose bets of the usual $2.00. Robertson, who had a leg up on this big boy, tickled his mount up with only a few more strides to go and found a noble response, plunging in between Miss Emmert and Mary Dear to catch the decision by a neck.

Other large prizes were paid by Tensas, which copped the third, paying $17.50 and Cullacan, which came down in front at seven and one-half to one in the closing event.

PRINCE GOLDSTREAM WINS

The handicappers took a big load off the back of Prince Goldstream, which Mrs. A. E. Smith has reared in these parts, and this son of Bee's Wing won the second in handy style. Carrying only eighty-five pounds, the two year old had little trouble disposing of Black Astor and Sincere over the four and one-half furlong route. It was his second out. Like his sister, Lady Goldstream, this pony will bear watching in the future.

Pandion Queen brought her second purse in a row to the Ramsey & Rowe headquarters by taking the fourth with little trouble. Aali was a good second with Greenshields third.

BROWN WINS FEATURE

The feature handicap over the mile route developed into a duel between Slater's three-year-old, Bowcroft and Dapper with the former taking a comfortable decision. Although carrying too weight of the race, the Slater entry was never in trouble after disposing of Dapper on the back stretch.

Jockey Teasdale, who piloted Bowcroft down in front, scored his second win in the next event, scoring a popular win with Herbert Fullerton's mare, Purty Shot. The race was over one mile and one-eighth, proving too far for Slater's Louie Wright which went out on top and when Purty Shot and Bobbie Doyle, first and second choices, came charging along, had nothing left.

Mrs. E. Sport's mare, Sweet Money, traveling light, made a game effort in the stretch but failed to get up soon enough.

Cullacan AGAIN

Carsley, riding for Ruth Parton, gave Cullacan a lovely journey in the seventh, and came plunging ahead with plenty in reserve at the finish. Jimmie Trinz, which was carrying most of the money, set the pace, until paced down by Cullacan, another public favorite. De Ford, who was riding the Lion, appeared to make his move too soon when Cullacan came from behind and could not stand off the winner in the stretch. Trinz was an easy third.

With beautiful weather favoring the meet, the crowds at the track are fairly large. To-morrow's race, which will include several good sprinters, are expected to draw a good mid-week crowd.

Nothing else
Like it!

No other cereal so crisp. Rice Krispies actually crackle out loud in milk or cream. Children are crazy about them.

And such flavor! The taste of toasted rice. A different treat for breakfast. Wonderful for the kiddies' lunch. So wholesome and easy to digest. Rice Krispies are handy to use in recipes. Take the place of nut meats. At grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

I'm never too tired to sleep now—
Rested nerves make all the difference

After a real hard day, nerves often get overstrung—excited—jumpy. They simply won't let you sleep. They must be calmed.

Soothe frayed nerves by the use of Wrigley's. Your doctor will tell you how the act of chewing relieves nervous tension, how the healthful cleansing action of Wrigley's refreshes the mouth and tones you up. Nerves are calmed. So you sleep soundly.

Dentists and medical men also recommend the use of Wrigley's after every meal—because it aids digestion, removes all trace of eating or smoking, and sweetens the breath.

No other sweet does so much or costs so little.

Mackenzie King—Liberal

A Tribute From Ottawa's Leading Newspaper
(The Ottawa Citizen)

To-morrow is the tenth anniversary of Mackenzie King's election to the position of leader of the Liberal Party. In a timely reminder of the occasion, The London Advertiser pays tribute to the Prime Minister. Liberals have, indeed, reason to feel well satisfied with the success of the national convention which Senator Andrew Haydon organized ten years ago in Ottawa. It laid the foundation for the election victory in 1921. By democratic methods, it gave Liberals the opportunity to find the best man for leader.

Under Premier Mackenzie King, Canada emerged from trade depression and unemployment to prosperity. Canada's prosperity is, of course, primarily due to the steadiness and industry of the Canadian people. The people get the government that they deserve, but much can be done by honest government to direct the nation along the path of progress. It should be set down to this Government's credit that a high standard of public service is being maintained.

When Mr. King took over the reins in 1919, the tide of Liberalism in Canada had receded to a low ebb. Some able Liberals had left the party during the war, and committed themselves to an alliance with the Conservatives after the war to form a so-called National Liberal and Conservative Party. The former strongholds of Liberalism, west of the Ottawa River, independent farmer organizations had broken away from party traces. It seemed almost as though the Liberal movement would recruit strength from the Liberals in Canada, to the detriment of the party, as the Labor movement has done in Britain.

It is quite probable that the Liberal Party in this Dominion would have failed to come back, but for the sagacious leadership of Mackenzie King. Courageous leadership, it should be said, too, for the new leader had to begin under anything but encouraging conditions. For more than twenty years the Liberal Party had been dominated by the brilliant personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The great Liberal chief had gone, but a number of Sir Wilfrid's former ministers remained. They regarded themselves as seniors in terms of party service. They were the elder statesmen, the weighty councillors. For the most part, they had become as conservative as any Conservative Party could desire, but they had to be consulted on policy while the Liberals remained in opposition. After the return of the party to power in 1921, they had first call on the higher cabinet offices.

Testing times for Liberalism came very early to the new Prime Minister. The story of Mackenzie King's stand against the claims of special privilege in Montreal to influence policy will doubtless be told some day. Visible signs of it were to be noted in the retirement of more than one of the alleged strong men in Liberal politics. But the Liberal Party became so much the stronger in public confidence. Younger men were attracted.

Much of the credit for the success of the Liberal administration must be due to the Prime Minister's chief lieutenants, James A. Robb, Minister of Finance, and Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice. Although Mr. Robb is a cautious Liberal, he dared to come forward with a progressive budget at the critical hour in 1926. He is, deservedly, trusted as a Liberal minister for his loyalty to the party. Mr. Lapointe's loyalty to the Prime Minister, and faith in Canadian democracy, have done much to keep the feet of the Government on the path of Liberalism.

Among the Prime Minister's own achievements, the re-establishment of confidence between Liberals and Progressives is one of the most notable. How completely the Liberal Party had become discredited in the west is to be seen in the disappearance of Liberals from office in the prairie provinces. There is no assurance that the Liberal cause will be restored to the party's keeping in the next Federal elections. There are prospects of better understanding, however, which the recent defeat of the Liberal administration in Saskatchewan may stimulate rather than deter.

Whether it is in the best interest of Canada to keep one party in power for more than ten years, or to have frequent changes of government, will have to be decided before the end of 1931. It will, doubtless, depend upon the continuance of prosperity in the country. Equally, however, it will depend upon the leadership given to the country by the Government, of which Mackenzie King is Prime Minister.

Ottawa, as the Dominion capital, has reason to know that Mr. King has vision. No man is doing more to make this city worthy of the distinction it enjoys as the seat of government. In the wider field, it may fairly be said, no man has done more in the last ten years to bring distinction to Canada among the nations in this great time of reconstruction.

RANKIN SETS RECORD WITH SMALL PLANE

Establishes New Mark on Vancouver to Mexico Flight

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 13.—Establishing a new official mark for the three-flights flight from Vancouver, B.C., to Lower California, Tex. Rankin, Portland aviator, landed his mosquito plane at the Agua Caliente, Mexico, airport twenty miles from San Diego, last evening. Just 13 hours 17 minutes and 40 seconds after he left Vancouver.

NO TROUBLE ON TRIP
He covered 1,350 miles in his flight and when landed he had twenty-five gallons left of the 100 gallon fuel supply he carried aloft. The official timers announced that Rankin left Vancouver at 4:49:37 o'clock yesterday morning, and they checked his arrival at 5:48:26. Rankin was over the Agua Caliente airport at 5:45 p.m., but circled several times before landing. Rankin's first request was for "a bottle of beer and a bath," but before he had either he posed for photographers at the Mexican airport. He plans to remain here overnight and expects to leave at noon to-day for Los Angeles en route to Portland. He said he felt fine and had no trouble on the entire trip.

As far as could be learned here Rankin is the first flier to take off in Canada and land in Mexico on a non-stop flight, although two army aviators, Captain Lowell Smith and Lieutenant John Paul Richter flew from border to border in 1923. They started and landed in United States territory, however, and flew a plane with a 400-horsepower engine. Their plane was refueled twice in the flight.

HUNDRED MILES AN HOUR
Rankin's engine is a four-cylinder air-cooled one developing between eighty and ninety horsepower. Flying the air mail route down from the north, he estimated he covered at least 1,350 miles. This would mean he averaged around eighteen miles to the gallon despite his 100 miles an hour pace.

san told The Province this morning that whether the city would oppose the application would depend on the ruling of the City Council this afternoon.

The City Council has already telegraphed the Board of Railway Commissioners opposing any rehearing of the case for North Fraser Shippers and urging that the order granted by the Board on July 8 remain in force in any case until the rehearing is completed.

The Board's order has been suspended on the C.P.R. application for rehearing of the case.

Mother Kills Rattlesnake Which Bit Son

Vernon, B.C., Aug. 13.—George Henry Fowkes, seven-year-old son of a section man at Kalawaka Siding on the C.N.R., was bitten by a rattlesnake Saturday. He was rushed to the siding and conveyed to the Vernon Jubilee Hospital on the train. Anti-venom serum treatment was administered and the boy was able to leave the hospital Monday. The boy's mother killed the rattlesnake in the grass with a stick.

U.S. CAPTURES TENNIS TROPHY

Despite Brilliant Battle By Betty Nuthall, Wightman Cup Goes to States

Forest Hills, Aug. 12.—Helen Wills clinched the Wightman Cup for the United States on Saturday, but it took one of the hardest-won triumphs of her career to turn back the challenge of her youthful English rival, Betty Nuthall, and regain the emblem of women's tennis supremacy for this country.

For nearly an hour, while a gallery of more than 8,000 spectators sat thrilled in the big West Side club's stadium, the queen of the world's courts was played to a standstill by the bounding, impetuous rush of the eighteen-year-old English girl. Expecting a one-sided victory, the crowd was startled instead by one of the most dramatic battles of Miss Wills's career as well as one of the biggest upsets of the tennis season. Helen won finally by scores of 8-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Through the triumphs of Miss Wills and Miss Jacobs in the singles individual matches, the United States led two to one, a margin that was saved by an even break in the concluding fourth match Saturday. Edith Cross, third of the California stars on the United States squad, scored the third singles victory over Mrs. Peggy Saunders Macdonald in a well-played duel, decided by scores of 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, after Mrs. Phoebe Watson had evened the count for England by overcoming Miss Jacobs in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

After Miss Wills's victory, the English team of Mrs. Phyllis Covell and Mrs. Dorothy Shepherd-Barron took the final doubles match from Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, donor of the cup, and Miss Jacobs, 6-2, 6-1.

JASPER LINKS IN FINE SHAPE

Report Is Made on Course For Canadian Amateur Golf Tournament

Jasper, Alta., August 13.—Hamilton Martin, Alberta representative of the R.C.G.A., has been at Jasper Park Lodge for the last two days making an official survey of the course over which the Canadian amateur championships will be played, commencing August 19. His official report to Charlie Harvey, president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association is as follows:

"From first tee to last green the Jasper course is in perfect condition. Can suggest nothing to improve the course for championship event. The few changes that have been made have improved what in my opinion was well nigh a perfect golf course. The fourth new tee gives an absolutely different view of the hole and makes for better golf. The eleventh green has been banked at the back. Traps and bunkers give a perfect view of the green which was a semi-blind hole from the 200-yard mark. I can think of no course anywhere that is more ideal to play over than Jasper as it is now. There are scores of men on the course to keep it in the perfect condition, in which I found it. The Canadian championship will demand of this year's champion the best golf he has ever played. The par of the course is seventy. You need have no fear about encouraging all golfers to come to the Canadian championship, for not only is the course perfect, but surroundings are ideal and the welcome that is awaiting the golfers will be such as to make everyone wish to come back even though they are not successful in carrying off the prize."

Most Trouble With Feet Due to Wearing Too-tight Shoes

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

During the World War a tremendous number of men was rejected for service because of flat-feet, hammer-toe, bunions or other defects which the experience of military authorities had shown would prevent them from holding out sufficiently on the march. The ancient Greeks and Romans wore sandals with a strong between the big toe and the first toe which helped to keep the big toe in its proper place. Very soon after one wears constricting footgear, one loses the power of moving the big toe outward from the rest of the toes. The stiff soled shoe helps to cause atrophy of the muscles of the foot and very soon one has the inflamed, distorted object that passes for a foot in most human beings today.

Dr. John D. Adams insists that the first shoes of the infant should be like a paper bag with just enough shape to make it possible to call the device a shoe. The material should be soft and with a drawing of tape at the top. Since custom demands some conformity to style, the shoes between the ages of two and five should be sufficiently broad to allow the toes to assume a natural uncompressed weight bearing position. The shoe should have a well-shaped heel, sufficient depth from the vamp in the middle of the foot to the middle of the sole, a broad flexible sole with a straight outside. Up to 3 1/2 years of age the heels should not be any thicker than the sole; from 3 1/2 to 5 years the heels should be twice as thick as the sole.

NEW SWIMMING RECORDS MADE

Outdoor Women's Contest at Waikiki Produces Four World Marks

Honolulu, Aug. 12.—The 1929 women's outdoor swimming championships of the amateur athletic union of the United States were completed Saturday night in War Memorial Pool at Waikiki. Josephine McKim of Balboa, Canal Zone, winning the all-around championship medal, and the Women's Swimming Association of New York again winning the team championship.

Miss McKim won three national titles, keeping the mile championship and adding the quarter mile and half mile honors. The Women's Swimming Association, New York, girls took four titles, including the half mile relay. Eleanor Holm won two of them, the 220-yard back stroke and the 300-meter medley. Eleanor Garatti of San Rafael, Cal., kept her 100-meter championship and set a new record for the event.

Georgia Coleman of the Los Angeles Athletic Club cleaned up on the diving honors. She already was indoor high board champion. She won the outdoor ten-foot title and the plain and fancy diving competitions. All diving titles were contested here in the day time, the lighting of the Memorial Natatorium, mammoth outdoor pool, casting shadows which make night diving difficult and a little dangerous.

New world's records set at the meet were:
100 meters—One minute 9 4/5 seconds. Old record 1:10.3.
440-yard swim—Five minutes 47 2/5 seconds. Old record 5:1 2/5.
300-meter medley—Four minutes 49 4/5. Old record 4:56 flat.
880-yard swim—Twelve minutes 3 4/5 seconds. Old record 12:17 4/5.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—Weighing and inspection bureaus established by the United States interstate commerce conference at this port and Los Angeles have given such satisfaction that additional bureaus are soon to be opened in the Pacific northwest. This announcement was made yesterday by H. M. Runyon, Pacific Coast representative of the conference here, who disclosed that he would leave for Seattle to arrange matters during the week. Names of the new steamships and motorships to be added to the fleet of the round-the-world service of the Bank Line Trading and Transport Company were received here yesterday by Captain Walter Gay, president. The steamers are being named: Nithbank, Trentbank and Tarbank, while the motorships will be known as the Avonbank, Portbank, Irisbank and Lindenbank. All of the new vessels are being turned out at the Workman, Clark Limited yards at Belfast. The Trentbank is scheduled to arrive here October 29.

The United States Shipping Board vessel West Cussetta, first of the four 8,800-ton ships allocated by the Government to the South African Dispatch Line, arrived here from New York yesterday. The West Cussetta will inaugurate the new Pacific Coast-South Africa service of the line.

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—The tentative schedule of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique Company's passenger service between Europe and the Pacific Coast was announced here Saturday by Captain B. Allet, Coast manager for the line. The line is building four vessels for the trade. The first of these, the Oregon, will sail from Havre on her maiden voyage December 20 and will leave here for Europe February 14. The Oregon will be followed by the Wyoming, Washington and Wisconsin.

The liner Mongolia, in command of Capt. George V. Richardson, is due here from New York on Wednesday with over 300 passengers on board. After the eastward voyage of the Mongolia, Capt. Richardson will leave the vessel to take over the Virginia, relieving Capt. H. A. T. Candy. Capt. Candy will take over the liner Pennsylvania, now nearing completion at Newport News. Capt. Richardson's successor on the Mongolia was not announced.

Duties in Conveying Canadians to Battlefields Noted

London, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press Cable)—English newspapers to-day contain many tributes to Sir Edward Kemp, former minister of defence for Canada, who died near Buxayon, Ont., yesterday at the age of seventy-one.

The Daily Telegraph remarks that "heavy as was his duty in conveying the Canadians to battlefront, it was nothing to the problem that faced Sir Edward when the time arrived for reparation."

"Considering all the impediments facing the ministry for overseas forces, it was creditable that it accomplished the greater part of the reparation work early in the summer of 1919."

The Telegraph also comments that Sir Edward's genial disposition and manifest liking for meeting the Briton at home, earned him a great amount of goodwill on this side of the Atlantic.

DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE PLAN OF U.S. FIRM

Mr. Holden declared his company would operate Fairchild seven-passenger planes on the service. They also have available a number of Lockheed-Vega cabin monoplane, all equipped for use on water.

"This will," he said, "be only a fore-runner of the development planned for next year. At present we hope just to try out the feeling for passenger traffic and if the volume is good, will in all probability put on fourteen-passenger seaplanes next spring."

Mr. Holden is a former Victorian who learned to fly during the Great War and has made big strides in the commercial flying field.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Geoffrey Hope was fined $20 in City Police Court this morning for driving an automobile to the common danger on Quadra Street.

J. Fisher, charged with assaulting William Prewitt, pleaded not guilty in City Police Court this morning, and was remanded until Thursday for hearing.

J. McE. Muirhead was appointed acting city comptroller last night, to take the place of D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller, who is to leave shortly on his vacation.

The McBride Conservative Club will hold its monthly meeting in the Sons of England Hall, Broad Street, to-morrow night, starting at 8 o'clock. An initiation will be conducted at 8.30 o'clock.

Charles Effe, past president of the Montreal Anti-Vivisection Society, recently visited the city to make arrangements with the local body for a federation of all Canadian anti-vivisection societies.

A meeting of the executive council of Victoria Unit No. 12, Army and Navy Veterans of Canada, will be held in the Jubilee Hall, 312 Port Street, at 8.30 o'clock this evening. A general meeting will be held Thursday at the same hour.

On the joint lawn of Messrs. Piercy and Furber, 806 and 810 Linden Avenue, a garden party will be held to-morrow afternoon in aid of the Fairfield United Church. All friends interested in the welfare of the church are invited to attend.

The investment of $10,500 in sinking funds with A. E. Ames and Company, to yield 5.15 per cent, and $1,000 with Wood, Gundy and Company, to yield 5.60 per cent, was ratified by the City Council last night, on the recommendation of the finance committee.

Satisfied in full, the city withdrew last night its default notice, filed with the Panama Pacific Grain Terminal Limited, pending a settlement of the July 2 debtors' interest. The interest sums were recently paid in full, and the agreement between the city and the grain firm is accepted as again in good standing.

Christ Church Cathedral property, required and actually used for church purposes, was officially recognized by the City Council last night, as that exempt. The decision follows the customary course, subsequent to the Privy Council ruling of some years ago, in which exemption for church purposes was upheld.

W. E. Harper, president of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, and well known as a lecturer over C.P.C. will address radio listeners over Victoria's radio station at 8.30 o'clock this evening. His address is entitled "The Role of the Amateur in Astronomy," and will doubtless prove of interest to a great many radio enthusiasts.

The City Council does not approve of the removal of shrubbery beds on lower Bastion Street to make way for car parking space, the Police Commission was informed, following discussion of the subject at the City Council meeting last night. The commission has asked for more parking space in the area.

Members of Lodge Primrose, No. 32, Daughters of England, are invited to attend the drill competition on Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Sons of England Hall, on the subject at the evening at 8 o'clock, at the meeting of Lodge Primrose Alexandria, No. 13, when the Most Worshipful Grand Vice-president, Mrs. Peterson, will make an official visit to the district.

Unstated damages for personal injuries and damage to his car are claimed by William A. Duncan, 501 Duncan, in a writ filed in the Supreme Court here to-day against Cecil H. Armour and Thomas Armour of Armour Bros., also of Duncan, arising out of a collision between their cars and a car of the plaintiff on April 26 last. Helmerman & Tai are appearing for the plaintiff.

Private buildings encroach on city property at Elk Lake, two houseboats are moored in the lake, and a speed boat has been seen darting up and down its waters, the City Council was informed last night from various sources. A report on the ground encroachments, motor boating, and other phases of the issue was ordered by the council for presentation at its next meeting.

Harold D. Bechtel, who a few months ago was the popular singing M.C. at the Capitol Theatre, has recently joined the staff of ABC announcers at radio station KVA, San Francisco. The current issue of The Broadcast Weekly says of him: "Canada knew him as a jovial character comedian and reader of ceremonies in vaudeville. His associates in the studios have recently learned to call him 'Happy Harry.'"

BENNETT PAYS KEMP TRIBUTE

Will Be Remembered as Distinguished Public Servant Who Served Dominion Well

Prince Rupert, Aug. 13.—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Dominion Conservative leader, paid tribute last night to Sir Edward Kemp, who died in Buxayon yesterday.

"The death of Sir Edward Kemp," Mr. Bennett declared, "removes from our midst an outstanding Canadian whose life was a striking example of what a youth of ability, integrity, courage, ambition and faith in his country can achieve. Through his own efforts he became one of our great captains of industry. He accumulated a vast fortune which he used freely for every cause that appealed to his sympathies. But he will be best remembered by a grateful people as a distinguished public servant who served the Dominion in both House of Parliament, and when the life of the country was threatened by a world war, his wide experience, business capacity, wise counsel and administrative ability enabled him to discharge onerous ministerial duties with credit and distinction alike to himself and the Canadian people. He will be greatly missed not only in the Senate, in his home city and by his former associates, but by a large circle of friends."

Steel Leader Of Pittsburgh Fishes Here

Col. A. W. Wyckoff Says Brentwood Bay Is Place For Fighting Fish

Vancouver Island is a fisherman's paradise, in the opinion of Col. A. W. Wyckoff, president of the Wyckoff Driven Steel Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., who has been spending a holiday here with Mrs. Wyckoff.

"I have fished from Maine to California and from Georgian Bay to the Gulf of Mexico, but I have never found anything to equal what you have here," said Col. Wyckoff.

The colonel and his wife are still thrilled by an exciting adventure while fishing with Bob Stacy at Brentwood the other day.

LOST SPORTY FISH

"We hooked a fifty pounder on a rod and it was some tussle, but he got away from us," exclaimed the colonel. "We were compensated for the loss of the big fellow, however, by a catch of several twelve and sixteen pounders."

"Brentwood has the fighting fish, if you know how to get them," said Bob Stacy, who has been holidaying at the Empress Hotel for ten days, and is hurrying back to Pittsburgh to put through a big business deal. Otherwise he would be staying here to enjoy more fishing. He came to Victoria from Georgian Bay, but would rather fish out here than on the Great Lakes.

Col. Wyckoff's steel wire plant in Pittsburgh turns out over 200,000 tons of the United States and exports 1,000,000 tons. It is largely used in automobile manufacture.

He was formerly in the United States army and led the Chemical Gas Corps of the American Expeditionary Force.

MINE FIRES GAINING GROUND

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 13.—With three additional explosions shortly after midnight spreading the flames over an area over 250 feet long, fire fighting forces continued to-day to battle a fire in the Primrose vein of the Shamokin Coal field.

Twenty-five miners at work when a series of four explosions started a fire in a gas pocket last night, escaped through the air branch in an inter-sectional roadway, but four men, members of a rescue party, were severely burned.

The fire quickly spread throughout the vein of soft anthracite which runs half a mile west of the city and was stubbornly resisting the efforts of more than 100 men employees, city firemen and emergency assistance from Minersville collieries. The fire continues to gain headway.

OBITUARY

Funeral service for the late William Bishton Perry, who passed away in this city August 8, was held yesterday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the S. J. Barry & Son Funeral home. Many friends were present and beautiful floral tributes were received, testifying to the high esteem in which the late Mr. Perry was held. Rev. W. J. Kelley conducted an impressive service, during which the hymn "Abide With Me" was sung. Mrs. A. Dowell rendered as solo "No Night There." The following acted as pallbearers: E. Kirkbright, G. Fulmer, A. H. Graves, H. H. Oakes, and M. Hayward. Interment was in the family plot at the Royal Oak Burial Park.

The death occurred at an early hour this morning, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, of Lillian Emily Gertrude Matthews, wife of Alfred Matthews. The late Mrs. Matthews, who was forty-three years of age, was born in Birmingham, England, and had been a resident of Victoria for the past several years. She is survived by her husband, at present in China, four daughters, Kathleen and Lillian, at home, Mrs. D. H. H. and Mrs. A. H. H., and one son, Alfred, at present on the West Coast, and two granddaughters and two grandsons. She was a member of the Daughters of the Empire, and her funeral was held at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel, and interment will be in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

The remains of the late Mrs. Ann Eliza Miller were laid to rest in St. Luke's Cemetery, Cedar Hill, yesterday afternoon, the funeral taking place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 2.30 o'clock and proceeding to St. Luke's Church, where service was conducted by Rev. S. Ryall, assisted by Rev. E. Connell at 3 o'clock. The hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Abide With Me." There was very large attendance of friends, including officers and members of O.E.S. Order, whose service at the graveside was conducted by Sister Nina Parley, worthy matron of Ruth Chapter No. 22, O.E.S. of Sanction, assisted by Bro. Walker, past patron, and officers of the order. The pallbearers were Dr. G. L. Milne, R. Hayward, M.P.P., R. Bland, Dr. C. M. Healey and William Bennett. A procession of beautiful floral offerings covered the casket and hearse.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Dutton took place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 2.30 o'clock, at 1.45 o'clock, proceeding to St. John's Church, where service was conducted by Rev. F. A. Chadwick, assisted by Rev. S. Ryall. Numerous beautiful floral designs covered the casket and hearse. The pallbearers were R. Lewis, C. Burr, L. Basso, A. W. Perkins, C. A. Post and F. Tatham. The remains were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

WATER SUPPLY FAILS, SAANICH STOPS FARM USE

Sooke Provides Low Pressure When Goldstream Cut Out; Trouble Being Fixed

Irrigation in Saanich was summarily stopped this morning when an unannounced drop in water pressure took place. The Saanich municipal officials were unofficially informed that a break had taken place in the main delivering water from the Goldstream section of the Victoria waterworks system, and therefore impressed the officers of the municipal police to serve notice on farmers and horticulturists to cease irrigation operations.

The water supply was maintained with sufficient volume to assure domestic supply, the Saanich officials being given to understand that the supply was being taken from the Sooke branch of the combined system.

The ban on irrigation was expected to be maintained for at least two days, but later this afternoon it was learned the main had not been broken and that pressure will be restored this afternoon.

"It might be forty breaks in the Goldstream main, but I have been in the field," stated F. M. Preston, City Engineer, when asked for a statement as to the change.

"For reasons of my own we cut over to the Sooke system entirely at 10 o'clock this morning. The pressure might have dropped a bit while the change was being made, but it is up to within five pounds of normal in the gauge in my office now. In two days time we will be ready to switch back again," concluded the City Engineer.

Later Mayor Herbert Anscomb issued a brief statement which said that in testing out a new meter in the water system this morning city waterworks officials had discovered a minor defect, which was now being put right. The pressure would return to normal this afternoon, stated His Worship, stressing the fact that there would be no continued interference with irrigation affairs in Saanich.

SAYS SNOWDEN IS JUSTIFIED

"Mr. Snowden's demand for a large share of the unconditional annuities also seems justifiable. If it should happen that Germany was unable to pay her annuities in full in any year, surely all the creditors should suffer equally in that event."

"If, on the other hand, Germany should prove able to pay regularly and in full, France would lose nothing by admitting England's right to a large share of the unconditional payments."

"In his demand for the abolition of payment in kind Mr. Snowden was on less firm ground. He wished to see to it that payments in goods reduced or abolished because he felt that such goods cut into the English export market."

He argued that Germany was exporting and in any case, Germany would have to pay her annuities either directly in goods or indirectly by credit.

"Britain's criticism was not directed against the two really important contributions of the Young committee which were the fixing of the total payment and the design of machinery to pay them. There was no quarrel with the allies or with Germany on either of these points."

Calgary, Aug. 13.—"Everybody, regardless of party, will approve of Snowden standing up for British interests," declared Right Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, minister of the Colonies, yesterday morning en route to Banff and Lake Louise for a month of mountain climbing in the Rockies.

Pharmaceutical Convention At Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Preliminary registrations for the convention of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, which opened this morning at the Hotel Vancouver, disclose the names of 175 visiting delegates, and it is expected that, before registration is complete, there will be around 500 names on the roster.

Mayor W. H. Malkin welcomed the delegates at the Hotel Vancouver at 10 a.m., extending the privileges of the city.

Speakers on to-day's programme include R. N. Kelly of Regina, president of the association; Dean E. L. Woods of the Department of Pharmacy, Saskatchewan University; J. M. Watson, Vancouver, past president of the association; E. Bruce Medley of Hamilton, Ontario; and Norman S. Jones.

An informal reception will be held to-night.

ADVISES LARGE PARTY ATTEND SALEM PARLEY

Kiwanis District Convention Expected to Select Victoria For 1930 Meet

Dr. W. B. Burnett of Vancouver, Lieutenant-Governor of the Pacific Northwest District of International Kiwanis, speaking at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club to-day, urged Victoria Kiwanis to send a strong delegation next week to the district convention at Salem, Oregon. He forecasted that the Salem meeting would select Victoria as the convention city in 1930, and considered that a strong delegation representing Victoria would assure a heavy registration here next year.

Dr. Burnett regretted that the Victoria delegation could not take to Salem the excellent Kiwanis orchestra, remarking that their brilliant playing would carry conviction of the entertainment in prospect in Victoria next year, such as no words could convey.

The inspirational value of such district conventions was sketched, Dr. Burnett reciting the impression created by visits of the boys' work of Nanaimo Kiwanians, the activities of North Vancouver and New Westminster and the Bellingham success with young men.

NOT ALL WORKING

The speaker remarked that all Kiwanis clubs were not carrying out the International Kiwanis objectives of boys' work or vocational guidance. This commission was chiefly due to lack of information as to procedure, which he appealed to the Victoria club to join in giving other clubs represented at Salem.

"To the extent that these objectives are not being advanced by some clubs, Kiwanis is slipping," he warned.

COSTLY GATHERINGS

The annual international convention cost around $350,000 or $400,000, and Dr. Burnett pointed out that members who doubt the value received should give study to betterment proposals. On this matter the Tacoma Kiwanis Club would introduce a "D" programme of changes for the international convention, designed to lessen the cost to individual clubs.

Dr. Burnett favored limitation of the international convention to legislative matters, subject to review by the local Kiwanis clubs, possibly after a series of field conferences. He favored employment of paid officials serving groups of clubs, believing the cost could be saved out of the present administration costs.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

TOO MUCH ACTUAL WHEAT NOW

Chicago, Aug. 13.—The Tribune to-day says: "Bull movement has reached a stage where heavy and constant buying is considered necessary to keep prices on the upgrade. Stocks are piling up too fast and the outward movement to foreign consuming markets is too small to encourage heavy buying by the public. The large operators who have been active in supporting the market do not appear to be absorbing wheat in volume on breaks as of late, and the bull movement appears to have had a check for the present."

"Future scarcity is, for the time being, offset by the largest visible supply on record, 156,000 bushels."

Journal of Commerce says that the recent class of buying has not been encouraging, and bulls do not show the enthusiasm that they did a while back.

Harvest is now general in the American northwest, and is expected to become general in Canada by the end of this week or the early part of next.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—The Isherwiler was bullish at the opening of the market to-day on the strength of Liverpool cables, but later in the day he said: "I don't think it is time to buy wheat yet. It looks lower."

H. W. Laird, on the Canadian market, said: "She'll sell lower yet. It will be some time before you will see her start to go up again, although she may have temporary short rallies at any time."

By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited

Winnipeg, Aug. 13.—Wheat: Market to-day was very tame and featureless, with the trade passing practically all spreading between the different months. Opening prices were from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 higher than the unexpected strength in Liverpool. The bulge, however, was only momentary as the market sold off rapidly, finally sinking under last night's close.

There was very little real support under the market at any time while there was some scattered liquidation in evidence on the upturn. No liquidation could be confirmed out of this market, and the only encouraging news from abroad was that London reported a better demand for low-grade Manitoba and also that a good business had been done in American 2 hard winters and Argentine wheat.

The chief business passing in the local pit was the buying of October by the pool against sales from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents spread. It is well known that the pool have a lot of hedges put out in the nearby month and it is now believed that they are trying to close these more distant futures. Other traders were buying December against sales of May at the board difference.

There was a somewhat better demand for cash wheat from millers and shippers and spreads were unchanged to half better and three cents better on feed wheat. There was not much doing in durums and spreads were changed with offerings very light. Buenos Ayres market was stronger and it was reported that recent rains were not sufficient to be of much benefit. There was no particular change in general news and Liverpool action was unexplained.

Coarse Grains: These markets were very drags with very little demand from any source. Offerings were very light but the market appeared to sink at times from its own weight. No feature to anything.

Flax: Scattered liquidation was in evidence with offerings a very poor demand and little interest shown. Little feature.

EAST CREST NEAR LIME AT 4,185 FEET: HOMESTEAD DOWN 3,115 FT.; HOME NO. 3 RESUMES DRILLING

(Miller, Court Over Leased Wires)
Calgary, Aug. 13.—East Crest to-day was drilling steadily at 4,185 feet and was in the "poker chip" shales, which indicate that it will hit the line within fifteen to twenty-five feet, Harvey Price, managing director, announced.

Calgary, Aug. 13.—Homestead this morning was down 3,115 feet and drilling smoothly. The formation is now very hard, with gas and oil very visible.

Calgary, Aug. 13.—Commonwealth Peter, about a mile south of East Crest was down 2,775 feet with the rotary last night, making new hole steadily, according to reports from the field. There is still 9,000 cubic feet of gas flowing at Poothills No. 2. J. H. McLeod, production manager of Imperial Oil stated last night. It is understood that a test will be made of Poothills No. 2 well before drilling is resumed and that results of same may result in it being placed on production.

Freehold No. 2, just south and east a few yards from the Home wells in Turner Valley was down 2,900 feet last night and drilling steadily with cable tools, according to reports from the field.

A short delay is being experienced at Freehold No. 1 in the north end of the field, while the crew is installing a new bull wheel. The hole is standing at 3,890 feet and drilling will likely be resumed in a day or two.

Drilling was resumed at the Model Well in the north end of the field late Monday afternoon, officials of the company reported last night. Eight-inch casing has been run to 3,000 feet and about 1,000 feet of crude oil was standing in the hole which is down 5,235 feet in the Dalhousie Sands. Expectations are that a flow of crude oil will be struck in the next 125 feet.

Drilling has been resumed at Home No. 3 with the diamond drill, according to J. H. McLeod, of Imperial Oil. A short delay was experienced when about 400 feet of rods unscrewed at the bottom of the hole while the crew was drilling Friday. The well is eighty-one feet in the time at a total depth of 5,115 feet.

A. P. Consolidated No. 1 was down 2,345 feet and drilling steadily with the rotary, according to confirmation received from the field. No. 2 was down 1,550 feet and also making new hole. Both of these wells are located on eighty acres held by this company, just west of Associated and Home sites in Turner Valley.

Calmont No. 2, drilling with rotary next to the Home Wells on the Dallas lease, was down 3,254 feet, last night after getting the Dakotas at 3,700 feet. The crew is now drilling a few feet south of No. 2, was down 2,790 feet and making steady progress. No. 6, which is in line with No. 2 and No. 4 and south of No. 4, was drilling at a depth of 2,430 feet. The derrick is up for No. 7, which is located just a short distance west of No. 2 along the north side of the lease. The steel derrick is now nearly completed for No. 11. This well will be drilled with cable tools and is located just south of No. 7.

About 250,000 cubic feet of gas and good showings of light crude were struck in the bottom of the Dalhousie Sands at the British Dominion No. 2 well in Central Turner Valley yesterday afternoon. According to officials of the company, the well was running ten-inch casing to the bottom of the hole at Mercury No. 1 and will carry this down.

"Of course he shall stay with his mother," Iris almost screamed. "Poor little lover! God knows what they've done to you, but I'm not taking you now." She was about to drop to her knees beside the boy's chair when again Morgan's voice rang out.

"Leave the room Curtis. Go on to school."

Without a word Nan stepped forward. "I'll go upstairs with you, Curtis," she said with curious steadiness.

"Stay here, Nan," her husband commanded sternly, but the girl did not betray by word or glance that she had heard. The child seized her hand, scrambled out of his chair, and looking up at her with fearful, bewildered black eyes, accompanied her docilely out of the room.

They did not speak until they were on the stairs. Suddenly the boy flung both arms about the girl's small body and raised frightened, imploring eyes to her pale, set face.

"Whassa matter, Nan? Aren't you and Father glad to see my own mother? Aren't you, Mother? Father's mad at me and I didn't do anything," he sobbed.

"He's not angry with you Curtis," Nan said in a cold steady voice. "He's just surprised to see your mother. Come! We must hurry or you'll be late for school."

"You don't look sparkly any more," Curtis mourned, tears slipping down his cheeks. "All those electric lights have gone out inside you, Nan. Are you mad, Nan? Are you?"

Afterwards, Nan could never remember what she said or did during those few ghastly minutes after Iris's arrival. She retained only a dim picture of herself moving as if in a nightmare, giving strange, incoherent answers to a terror-stricken child who had no idea why he should be terrified. She remembered one question and the answer:

"Will my other mother let me keep Cop, Nan? Will she? She doesn't like dogs. She says they eat too much and scratch up the furniture. Will I have to sell Cop? Will I, Nan?"

"No. You shall keep Cop, Curtis," she remembered answering, with grim determination.

At last the boy was gone, almost happy again because of that promise, but with a lingering backward glance toward the closed dining-room door. Did he love Iris, too? Nan asked herself, and did not even realize that she had added that betraying "too."

Estelle found her standing on the last step of the stairs—a stiff, white-faced, blind-eyed little thing.

"Please, ma'am," Estelle whispered, coming close enough to touch Nan's loosely clasped, cold hands. "The mister sent me to find you. He wants you in—there." And she jerked her head toward the dining-room. "Listen, ma'am: don't you let her get away with nothing! Stand up for your rights, Miss Nan! You're his wife now, and she ain't got no more right in this house than—than a cockroach! Don't you take a word from her, Miss Nan."

Blindly, but with odd dignity, Nan made a slight gesture of dismissal to-needed her. She had never failed him yet.

Nan's icy fingers turned the knob slowly, noiselessly, though with no intention of muting her entrance. She forced her eyes to take in every detail of the tableau before her:

Morgan, standing tall and stiff, his pale face stern and forbidding, but such agony in his deep-set black eyes that Nan could have screamed. Swaying against his stiff body, her hands locked behind his rigidly unbending neck, was an Iris Morgan such as Nan, in her most uncontrolled flights of imagination, could not have pictured.

The divorced wife had scarcely un-hat and thrown aside her fur coat—the same mink coat in which she had gone away to join Bert Crawford. The glorious red-gold hair was in wild disorder, the thick knot on her neck almost shaken free by the violence of her emotion.

Before Nan became aware of the words Iris was pouring out upon her former husband her eyes took in, with curious detachment, the fact that Iris's normally slender body had become curiously thin. But somehow, watching her beauty had fed upon the wasting of her body. Undoubtedly Iris had suffered, and as a result was far lovelier than ever. Even her voice had a new quality, a throbbing sincerity in what had formerly been an artificial, beautifully modulated ripple of music. Gradually her words beat into Nan's still half-dazed brain:

"It can't be true, Jack! You've said these horrible things to punish me. I'm pum'ed! See! I'm crying, Jack! Now put your arms about me. Kiss me! Hold me so tight I can never leave you again! And then tell me—tell me! With her hands still locked behind his neck, she tried frantically to shake the rigid figure—'Tell me you were lying—that you haven't divorced me and married that girl—'

Over the wild disorder of red-gold curls Morgan's harassed eyes caught sight of the small, erect figure of his new wife, waiting before the door she had closed softly behind her. Nan's wide brown eyes met his steadily, unflinchingly, without question or reproach. As if their aloof gravity had a magic power over him, the man suddenly raised his hands and tore apart the locked fingers of the woman who was no longer his wife.

"Stop, Iris!" his hoarse voice commanded sternly. "I can't have you humiliate yourself and me like this. I've told you the truth. I'm sorry you had to learn the truth in this way. If you had written before returning I could have spared you—all this."

"So I should have written, should I?" Iris panted, stepping back from him and rubbing the delicate wrists which his repudiating hands had bruised. As your wife I had a right to know what you were warning me of. And I am your wife! Do you think for a minute that I'll let you cast me off like this—?"

"No! I was not I who cast you off, Iris," he reminded her sternly. "You dissolved our marriage by deserting me. I merely made the divorce legal."

"Legal?" Iris shrieked. "When I had no chance to contest it? I wasn't a lawyer's wife eight years for nothing, Jack Morgan! And I'm a lawyer's wife still! I'll fight you through every court in the land—"

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Now then, you men take a hoe an' work up th' soil in my tomato patch! An' don't stand around resting on th' hoe handles all th' time, or other farmers goin' by will think I've set out a couple more scare-crows!

How are you fixed on coal for th' winter?—If we have time before sun-down, we might dig you a mine!—An' tonight we can shingle th' barn, if there's a full moon!

TELL HIM THAT I HAVE A HABIT OF WALKING IN MY SLEEP AT NIGHT. AN' IF HE'LL LEAVE A HORSE HITCHED UP TO A PLOW, I WON'T WASTE MY STEPS!

THEY CAME FOR A REST.

NERVES GONE CAN'T SLEEP?

"Fruit-a-tives" Restores Good Health

Are you tired? Downcast most of the time? Worried at trifles? Can't sleep? Mr. J. O. Ringheim, Wyndland, B.C., writes:

"My nerves were completely gone. I own my present good health to 'Fruit-a-tives'."

"Fruit-a-tives" is a combination of intensified fresh fruit juices and the most scientific medicinal ingredients. In a natural, gentle way it stirs liver, bowels and kidneys, into normal, healthy action, soothes the digestive tract, and calms the troubled nerves. 25c or 50c boxes at all druggists.

Metchosin

Mr. and Mrs. A. Canj have returned from a vacation, part of which was spent motoring in Oregon and part in camping at Quilicum Beach.

The annual picnic and sports of the Reformed Episcopal Sunday school of Happy Valley was held on Thursday at Weir's Beach. The large number of children enjoyed a long day paddling in the sea. A sports programme, managed by Mr. Seabrook, caused much amusement, twelve first prizes and twelve second prizes being competed for. After supper candles, chocolates and oranges were distributed and the children were taken to their homes in Lee Field's truck. Their elders being conveyed in cars by Mrs. R. Brown and Mrs. Hutchison.

Among the visitors were: Rev. A. de B. Owen of Victoria, Dr. Merritt and family and Miss Needham of Vancouver.

The committee in charge wish to thank Mr. Dallimore, Lee Field, Mrs. R. Brown and Mrs. Hutchison for their kindness in providing transportation. Mr. and Mrs. McKay of Vancouver are visiting Mrs. G. D. Winter.

Mrs. Jonas and family have rented the Wallace Pear's farm.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cleary have rented the farm lately occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Rampling.

Mrs. F. A. Pearce and family have returned from a holiday at Harrison Hot Springs.

On Friday afternoon the junior tennis players of William Head accepted the invitation of the Junior Metchosin Club and a tournament was held on the courts of the Metchosin Tennis Club which resulted in a win for Molly Cornwall and Peter Bradford. Many interested visitors were present and tea was served by Mrs. T. Barclay, Mrs. J. M. Milne and others.

On Friday, August 23, at 8 p.m., Dr. Henry James, eminent magician and super-mentalist, assisted by Eddie Williams, will appear at Metchosin Hall. There will be magic and mystery, music, songs and supper. Dancing music will be supplied by Dr. James's orchestra.

Members of the Metchosin Women's Institute are invited to a united institute picnic, to be held by the Langford Women's Institute, on August 28 in the grounds of Miss M. L. Savory. A feature of the picnic will be a competition to be held as follows:

Those who visit the Victoria Provincial Exhibition are asked to write a report of not more than fifty words in length, on "The Feature That Impressed Me Most at the Exhibition." Three prizes are offered for the three best reports.

Smart Doings of Animals

Dog Brings Aid to Comrade

By J. F. GLASS

A butcher at Brockton, in the Isle of Arran, had two collies, one old and one young.

The old dog finally became so feeble and unhappy as a result of age that he was drowned in the sea. A few days later, his body was washed ashore, where it was discovered by the young collie. The latter, which had had no experience with death, seeing that something was the matter with its old comrade, ran off to the butcher shop, got a piece of meat and, hurrying back to the shore, put the meat at the dead dog's mouth.

TWO KILLED ON COASTER

St. Louis, Aug. 13.—A fifteen-year-old girl and a man, twenty-three, were instantly killed in an amusement park here last night when thrown from a roller coaster as it made a turn at the top of an incline forty feet above the ground.

The fact that animals have no personality is proved by the fact that none will recognize itself in a mirror.

Millionaire Spent His First Salary on Mother

Julius Rosenwald took out his money and counted it over twice. It was all there. He had not spent a penny of the money he had earned by working in a clothing store all summer. His father was well-to-do and he didn't have to work for he had all the pocket money he needed. He didn't live to last, however, and this summer, the summer of 1928, he had found a job which kept him busy all his vacation days. Since the money he made was money he didn't need, he might have spent it any way he wished. However, he had saved every cent of it.

Now that he had finished his summer's work, for school would begin in another day, he counted all his money, put it in his pocket, and wandered around through the stores. At last he spied just what he wanted. It was a beautiful silver tea set. Eagerly he asked the price. It was an expensive set, and cost exactly as much as he had saved through his summer's work. His hand went into his pocket, and out of it came with the money. He took the tea set home as a present for his mother.

When he grew up he became president of one of North America's greatest mail order houses, and many times a millionaire. He was born August 13, 1862.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Cake of Ice

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD R. GARIS

The Bob Cat did an Indian dance all around Uncle Wiggily. The Bad Chap had just tied the rabbit gentleman to a tree with pieces of wild grape vine for ropes.

"Ho! Ho! Ho!" howled the Bob Cat with his fifty little tails, no bigger than your thumb. "I've got you at last!"

"It certainly seems so," sadly answered Uncle Wiggily, trying to break loose from the grape vine ropes, but finding he couldn't. "What are you going to do with me?"

"I am going to eat, as I am very hungry," snarled the Bob Cat. "And I just 'ore rabbit'."

Uncle Wiggily, who had come to the woods for an adventure, having helped a cow untangle her tail from a bramble bush, looked more sad on hearing this. He wished the Thankful Cow was there to drive away the Bad Chap, but no cow could be seen.

"Well, if you are going to eat me," said the rabbit gentleman after a while, "why don't you do it and get it over with? I don't like to be kept waiting."

"Can I believe my eyes? moored the cow."

"But you've got to wait," mewed the Bob Cat. "I promised my friend, the Fuzzy Fox, if I caught you I would tie you to a tree and leave you there while I went after him. So now I'm going to get the Fox."

"What for?" asked Mr. Longears. "So he and I can have lunch together," snickered the Bob Cat. "He would be very angry if I ate alone. I'll go get him."

Leaving Uncle Wiggily tied to the tree with the grape vine ropes, the Bob Cat ran off through the woods very fast, very fast, very fast, to find the Fox and invite him to a rabbit lunch.

When the Bob Cat was out of sight Uncle Wiggily tried again to break loose but he could not and he was feeling very sad when, all of a sudden, he heard a rustling noise in the bushes.

"Ah!" sighed poor Uncle Wiggily. "I guess that is the Bob Cat and Fox coming to lunch on me. Well, this is the end of my adventure. Sad! Sad!"

But the rustling grew louder and louder, and instead of being made by the Bob Cat and Fox, it was made by the Thankful Cow pushing her way with her horns through the bushes. On her horns were smooth brass knobs, so she wouldn't scratch the piano.

"Can I believe my eyes?" moored the Cow. "My good friend Uncle Wiggily tied to a tree like an Indian captive! Terrible! How did it happen? Tell me about it!"

So Uncle Wiggily told how the Bob Cat had caught him and tied him to a tree.

"Where is the Bob Cat now?" asked the Cow.

"Gone to get the Fox," was the answer.

"Well, then I have time to save you!"

To-morrow's Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1929

Men in the learned professions should benefit to-day according to astrology, which reads in the horoscope certain reassuring signs.

Under this planetary government it is wise to be conservative in all activities and to play safe in all financial matters.

Many extremely subtle and tempting lures toward speculation will appear shortly. It is foretold, and warnings are given to play safe in all financial matters.

This is not a fortunate day for lending money or for making investments in which there is a strong element of chance.

The way is lucky for aviation, making for the introduction of new inventions that increase the safety of air travel.

The autumn is to be marked by the introduction of many novel inventions of various sorts. Motion pictures are to benefit from a device of rare cleverness, astrologers predict.

While this rule continues those who have attained success will profit by steady progress. It is forecast, while the young and aspiring must await future opportunities.

The theatre is still subject to planetary influences that are more or less disastrous, the signs declare, but they prophesy supreme attainments in both stage and screen productions.

The evening of this day is read as most propitious for entertaining or associating with celebrities or persons who represent success.

Russia comes under a favorable way making for progress that will be widely recognized. Many tourists will be entertained this month and next, it is forecast.

New factories under American direction are to multiply in England and other parts of Europe, astrologers announce, and the autumn should be profitable.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of unusual achievements in the coming year. Changes for the better are indicated.

Children born on this day should have varied talents. Love of adventure characterizes many subjects of this sign.

Ernest Thompson Seton, naturalist, was born on this day, 1860.

moored the Thankful Cow, whose tail Uncle Wiggily had loosed from a bramble bush a little while before.

Putting the rubber of her brass knobbed horns under the grape vine ropes, the Cow twisted and turned until she broke them and Uncle was free.

"Oh, thank you, so much!" said the Rabbit to the Cow. Then he began to twist and squirm.

"What's the matter?" moored the Cow.

"My back itches in the very middle where I can't reach to scratch it," was the answer. "Oh, dear! How it tickles!"

"Stand still!" moored the Cow. Then she gently rubbed her smooth, round brass tipped horns up and down the middle of Uncle Wiggily's back and she stopped the itching place as nicely as you please. Uncle Wiggily laughed, he felt so happy.

"Thank you very much," he said again.

"That's all right," moored the Cow. "I was thankful and now you are thankful, which makes it even. We'll fool the Fox and Bob Cat."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped home to his hollow stump bungalow and when he got there his wife said to him:

"Please take one of the children's little wagons and go get a cake of ice to cool the tea. It is such a hot day."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped to the North Pole cave of Mr. Whitewash, the gentleman, and got a fine cake of ice. But on his way home Uncle stopped at the pen of Mr. Twistytail, the pig, to tell about the Fox, the Bob Cat and the Thankful Cow.

And the sun was so hot that it melted the cake of ice in the wagon and turned it into a puddle of water, so the bunny had to get another cake. But this one he hurried home with so it didn't melt and the tea was cooled.

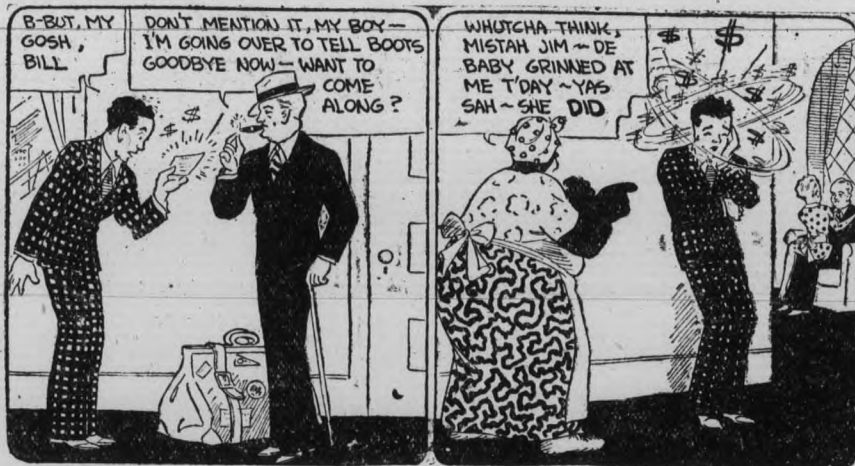

And if the janitor doesn't ring the school bell and make the chalk think the blackboard is on fire, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the busy wren.

Around the Docks

Bound for Victoria and Seattle, the Pacific Steamship Company's coastal passenger liner Emma Alexander sailed from San Francisco this afternoon at 5 o'clock. She will dock here late Thursday night.

The Japanese freighter Norway Maru is at present loading a heavy cargo of British Columbia products in Vancouver for Orient ports.

The O.S.K. liner Africa Maru, which docked here yesterday from the Orient, will sail outboard from this port on August 27. During the intervening time she will call at Seattle, Tacoma and Vancouver.

Reports received in Vancouver to-day from the Peace River district are to the effect that the river steamer D. A. Thomas has grounded on a sandbar, but is in no danger. It is expected that she will be refloated shortly.

The largest cargo to move out of Vancouver during July was taken by the motorship Tacoma, which sailed July 10 for Osaka. She carried on her outward voyage 500 tons of grain, 121 tons of scrap metal, 3,460,257 feet of lumber and 12,120 lineal feet of piling. The Tacoma arrived back in Vancouver yesterday.

The freighter Point San Pablo is at present loading in Vancouver for Gulf ports and Kingston, Jamaica.

The palatial steam yacht Aquilo of Seattle, arrived in the Inner Harbor this morning at 10:30 o'clock with Mrs. H. F. Alexander, wife of the president of the Pacific Steamship Company and a party of ladies aboard. The yacht will leave this evening and will make a cruise of British Columbia waters before returning to Seattle.

The Canadian National freighter Canadian Prospector docked at the Ogden Point pier last night at 10:30 o'clock from Montreal, Quebec, and Three Rivers, with 150 tons of cargo for discharge here. She left at 11:30 o'clock this morning for Vancouver.

The second of the two big scows ordered this summer for the Victoria tug company was launched last evening from the Point Hope Marine Railway. The Scud, No. 23, as the new scow is known, is the second largest ever built on Vancouver Island and is 100 feet in length, has a width of eighty-three feet and a ten-foot depth. She is capable of carrying 800 tons of cargo.

With more than 500 passengers, the coast steamer H. F. Alexander, crack flyer of the Pacific Steamship Company's fleet, sailed from Seattle at 5 o'clock this afternoon for San Francisco and Los Angeles. The H. F. makes the run from Seattle to Frisco in fifty hours.

The Holland-America freighter Gaasterdyk, which was here two weeks ago from Europe, is en route to Portland to the United Kingdom on her last voyage to the Pacific Coast. Where she will go after the termination of the present voyage is not yet known. The Gaasterdyk has been in service to the Pacific Coast for several years and is well known here.

The Princess Royal arrived in Victoria last evening from Vancouver by way of the Gulf Islands and left this morning at 11 o'clock on her return to Portland. She will call at Seattle, Tacoma and Vancouver for Prince Rupert to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The liner Makura, which left here on July 24, is now en route from Auckland to Sydney and will arrive at the latter port on Saturday of this week.

PRINCE FLIES HOME
La Tourquet, France, Aug. 13.—The Prince of Wales left here early this afternoon by aeroplane for Henley-on-Thames in England after a week-end at this French coast resort.

Deep Sea and Coastwise Transportation

SEATTLE CREW REPORTED SAFE

St. Paul, Alaska, Aug. 13.—The crew of the schooner Elisif, damaged by ice floes Saturday but not a total loss as first reported, after being rebound off North Cape in Bering Sea for more than a year, was reported by radio here last night to be proceeding or about to proceed to East Cape, Siberia, by their small boats or by the Russian steamer Stavattol which had been reported standing by the beached Elisif. Supercargo R. C. Pollister, agent of the Olaf Svensson Company, Seattle, about the Elisif when damaged, has requested the United States coastguard vessel Northland to pick up the crew at East Cape about September 1. The Elisif wintered in the ice north of Cape Siberia and was reported clear on July 29, when cargo was unloaded at North Cape. She then proceeded toward Khatanga where heavy ice was encountered and the hull was damaged on the night of August 10. She was beached near Cape Billings. Twenty Seattle men were on the ship when she was damaged.

Salvage King Floats Freighter From Sand

Golden Forest Now Afloat After Being Beached at Akutan Harbor for More Than Two Weeks; Will Be Some Time Yet Before She Is Ready to Proceed to Seattle.

The 10,000-ton freighter Golden Forest was floated off the sands of Akutan Harbor in the Aleutian Islands, yesterday by the crew and pumps of the salvage steamer Salvage King, of Victoria, according to a wireless message received this morning by A. C. Burdick, managing director of the Pacific Salvage Company from T. W. Allen, superintendent of salvage operations.

Although the big freighter is now back in the water, after being beached for two weeks ago after she ran aground, it will be some time before she is in a fit condition to proceed back to Seattle. Mr. Allen stated that the Golden Forest was beached on the night of August 10, when she was en route to Seattle. She was beached on the sands of Akutan Harbor, where she was stuck for more than two weeks. The ship was damaged by the rocks and progress is being made daily to free her. A seaworthy condition for the 2,000-mile voyage back to Seattle where she will be permanently repaired. The engines of the Golden Forest are thought to be in no way harmed and it is expected she will be able to return under her own steam. The Salvage King, however, will convey her, and will see her safely docked in Seattle before turning her back to her base in the inner harbor.

DISCHARGING CARGO
Mr. Allen also stated the freighter El Cedro of the James Griffith & Sons fleet of Seattle, is still alongside the Golden Forest taking slowly taking cargo. About 2,000 tons will have to be removed before the ship is ready for sea. The El Cedro, under charter to the Alaska Commercial Company, recently completed a voyage of a full cargo of general supplies for the company's stations at Unalaska and Dutch Harbor and was near the Golden Forest when she ran aground.

The Golden Forest was proceeding from San Francisco to Yokohama when she went out of her course near the Aleutian Islands to meet another ship whose doctor was to render medical aid to the second officer of the freighter. She held on so fast the skipper had her beached at Akutan Harbor, to await the arrival of the Salvage King.

ASAMA MARU HAS TRIALS

New N.Y.K. Motor Liner For California-Orient Service Does Twenty-one Knots

The new N.Y.K. motor liner Asama Maru, first of a trio of motorships being built for the California-Orient service, maintained an average speed of twenty-one knots on her trial runs. The Asama Maru is driven by four screws and is powered by four sets of Sulzer Diesels. The other two motor liners are now in the water in Japan and are fast nearing completion. They will make their maiden voyages early next year. All three of the ships will be the very latest and most modern of passenger liners and will have accommodations for nearly 1,000 passengers in first, second, third and steerage classes.

The Asama Maru will sail from Nagasaki on October 5 for San Francisco and after a call at Honolulu will arrive here on October 25. On her maiden voyage out of San Francisco she will sail for the Orient on November 6. The vessel will be run at a speed of seventeen knots to maintain the present schedule on the transpacific run between San Francisco, Los Angeles and Orient ports by way of Honolulu.
